THE ELECTIONS.

Returns Generally Confirm the Dispatches of Yesterday.

[illegible] BADLY BEATEN—NEW YORK DIVIDED

[illegible] Defeat in Virginia—Comments of the Press—What Butler has to Say About his Defeat—Etc.

In Nebraska.

[illegible], Nov 7—The campaign in this state was [illegible] supreme judge. Republicans [illegible] the election of Reese by from 5000 [illegible] is a strong probability that Savage [illegible] combined support of anti monop[illegible] is elected by a small majority. [illegible] Nov 7—Returns so far as received give [illegible]. The indications are that he is [illegible] majority [illegible] a small majority [illegible] Nov 7—9:30 A. M.—Returns from 139 precincts [illegible] for supreme judge 21.60 [illegible] place his majority in the [illegible] between 1000 and 6000.

In Kansas

[illegible] Nov 7—Enough returns from the judicial [illegible] to make it clear that Martin, dem., is [illegible].

[illegible] Nov 7—The republicans elected their [illegible] ticket, except sheriff and register [illegible] majorities ranging from 150 to 850. The [illegible] candidate for sheriff is probably elected [illegible] majority, and the democratic register [illegible].

In Virginia.

[illegible], Nov 7—The election generally passed [illegible], as far as heard from, although the [illegible] the most exciting in the history of the [illegible]. Indications are that the democrats [illegible] the state, as returns at hand show con[illegible] democratic gains. The democrats expect [illegible] majority in the senate, and probably in the [illegible]. The coalitionists on the other [illegible] they will control the house by a small [illegible] and the senate by one or two. Neither [illegible], however, has yet received information enough [illegible] a positive statement.

[illegible], Nov 7—News up to midnight shows [illegible] gains from every quarter which in[illegible] to the democrats by a large popular [illegible] and the senate and house by good majorities.

[illegible], Nov 7—Returns at 12.30 this after[illegible] that the democrats have carried the [illegible] by between 10,000 and 15,000 majority. Bulletin boards were surrounded all day. There is [illegible].

[illegible] Nov 7—Additional returns this morn[illegible] democratic gains of one member of the [illegible] in each of the following counties: [illegible] Culpepper, Fairfax, Havanna, Franklin, [illegible], Norfolk, Wythe, Princess Ann, [illegible] and Roanoke; one in Greene and [illegible] and Bland; two in Chester[illegible], [illegible] in Smythe and [illegible], two in Rockbridge and two in Wash[illegible]; with the loss of one member in Caro[illegible], [illegible] democratic gain of 16, which insures a [illegible] majority in the house, with a good prospect [illegible] majority reaching 25 or 30. The democrats [illegible] of the 40 senators, which will make their [illegible] with a chance of increasing it to [illegible] estimate their majority on the popu[illegible] the state at between 12,000 and 20,000.

[illegible] ASSAULTED—OTHER DISTURBANCES

[illegible], Nov 7—During a difficulty in the [illegible] Senator Mahone was struck in the face [illegible] person. There was considerable [illegible], but the police restored order.

[illegible], Va., Nov 7—Disturbances occurred [illegible] Wakefield after the polls had closed. [illegible] shots were exchanged. R. W. White, a [illegible] democrat, was shot fatally. No arrests [illegible] discussed.

[illegible], Nov 7—Later information received [illegible] the disturbance at Wakefield shows it to [illegible] than at first reported. In addition [illegible] who was shot, it is thought W. H. Morris [illegible] of the hotel at Wakefield, has been killed. [illegible] time of the disturbance, Morris [illegible] to leave a crowd when he was [illegible] by a mob. Nothing has since been heard [illegible]. It is supposed that after being [illegible] his body was concealed while the disturbance [illegible]. Police assistance was telegraphed [illegible]. The place subsequently became [illegible]. A large posse of men have been searching [illegible], but at last accounts nothing had been [illegible] of him.

In Minnesota.

[illegible] Nov 7—The number of votes cast in [illegible] was 5061. The republican state ticket is [illegible] by from 15,000 to 18,000 majority.

[illegible] Nov 7—No additional information of [illegible] in this state has been received since the [illegible] sent last night. Returns now to come [illegible] of the railroads and will be some [illegible] in. The republican majority in the [illegible] will not be less than 25,000.

In Dakota

[illegible] Nov 7—The state executive committee [illegible] at midnight that the constitution is carried [illegible] majority. Will have to wait until later [illegible].

In Connecticut.

[illegible], Nov 7—At midnight returns at the [illegible] office give the next legislature as follows: [illegible] republicans 10, democrats 2; house, republicans [illegible], democrats 87. There is one tie and [illegible] lacking, including 16 representatives.

In New Jersey.

[illegible], Nov 7—The Times this morning esti[illegible] Abbott's majority at 4220, and gives the dem[illegible] majority in the legislature. On joint [illegible] the republicans will have three majority in [illegible].

[illegible], Nov 7—Latest election returns give Ab[illegible] 5000 majority. The senate will stand 12 [illegible] to 24 democrats. The democrats will [illegible] majority on joint ballot of 5.

In Massachusetts.

[illegible], Nov 7—Three hundred and thirty three [illegible] cities, with 13 to hear from, give Robin[illegible] [illegible], Butler 149,331, Almy 1549, Arnold 31. [illegible] Robinson's plurality, 8883. The ex[illegible] council thus far stands five republicans to [illegible] democrats and one in doubt. The senate stands [illegible] republicans to 11 democrats with 02 districts to [illegible], and the house 115 republicans to 83 dem[illegible], with four districts to hear from.

[illegible], Nov 7—Returns give the republicans 139 [illegible] to 93 democrats and 1 independent with [illegible] districts to hear from. Robinson's total vote [illegible], Butler's 150,011. Four towns are [illegible]. The total vote for lieutenant governor [illegible] 13,000 to 14,000 plurality.

THE "POST'S" COMMENTS

[illegible] Post says: Butler has led the democrats of [illegible] into trouble, but he cannot help them [illegible] that they are manly enough and far-seeing [illegible] to help themselves. They were never [illegible] this man. They have heaped honors upon [illegible] he never will repay. So far as the results [illegible] of Butlerism our resignation is pro[illegible] consummate. He can make trouble in the [illegible] family no doubt, but he cannot enter [illegible] cherished scheme of Tammanizing the [illegible] the prestige of Massachusetts behind [illegible].

In New York.

[illegible] Nov 7—The Argus estimates, at 2 o'clock [illegible] democratic state ticket is elected by 10,000 [illegible] majority, except Maynard, who is probably [illegible] by 10,000 to 20,000. The senate is estimated [illegible] 19 republicans to 13 democrats. The as[illegible] is in doubt.

[illegible] M.—The Evening Journal claims Carr's [illegible] by 11,000. The rest of the democratic [illegible] possibly elected. The senate stands 18 re[illegible] to 14 democrats, and the assembly 68 re[illegible] to 60 democrats.

[illegible] DISAPPOINTED, INDEED

[illegible], Nov 7—John Connelly, 60 years of [illegible] himself, being dissatisfied with the re[illegible] election. He was a saloon keeper.

In Maryland

[illegible], Nov 7—Returns from a number of [illegible] are incomplete but sufficient is known to [illegible] the election of the entire democratic state [illegible]. The majority for McLaine is estimated at [illegible]. The republicans gain three senators, and [illegible] elected senators in Frederick and [illegible] counties. This, with five democrats and [illegible] republican senators holding over, will make [illegible] stand 14 democrats to 11 republicans, with [illegible] yet to be heard from, but probably [illegible]. The house of delegates will be demo[illegible] probably 20 or more.

LATEST ELECTION RETURNS.

Massachusetts

[illegible] Nov 7—General Butler has refused to be [illegible], and will make no statements concern[illegible] defeat, which he accepted complacently, al[illegible] it was unexpected. Returns [illegible] are complete with the exception of one [illegible]. Robinson's total vote is 160,181, Butler 150,074. [illegible] Robinson over Butler 10,087.

[illegible], Nov 7—[Special]—The entire vote is [illegible]. The legislature with 21 districts to hear [illegible] stands [illegible] republicans to 39 democrats.

Connecticut.

[illegible], Nov 7—Connecticut elects 11 republi[illegible] and 1 democratic senator. The senate [illegible] is 15 republicans and 8 democrats. The [illegible] house, with ten towns to hear from which [illegible] evenly divided, stands 145 republi[illegible] 98 democrats and one tie. The republican ma[illegible] on joint ballot is 65.

New York.

[illegible], Nov 7—[Special]—Returns come in [illegible], leaving the state ticket still in doubt. The [illegible] will have 19 republicans to 11 democrats, unless changes are made in some districts by the returns. Low's majority in Brooklyn is now [illegible].

[illegible], Nov 7—[Special]—Low's election is [illegible] by the Sun. The Brooklyn Eagle extra [illegible] his majority at 1878. The state ticket is yet [illegible]. The Times, usually accurate in returns, [illegible] the belief that the republicans have the [illegible].

[illegible] Nov 7—The Tribune estimates Carr's [illegible] over 15,000 and says the other repub[illegible] the state ticket apparently lost [illegible] from [illegible] of election. It says the senate stands 19 [illegible] to 13 democrats, and the house 72 repub[illegible] 57 democrats.

[illegible], Nov 7—The Argus estimates that the [illegible] elect their state ticket except Maynard [illegible] 8,000 majority. Carr's majority is about 10,000. The republicans have 19 senators and 70 assembly [illegible].

New Jersey

NEWARK, Nov 7—[Special]—Abbott's majority in New Jersey is near [illegible]. The legislature is the same [illegible].

Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 7—Official reports and [illegible] received from a number of counties make no material change in the figures sent last night. Niles has 16,189 and Livsey [illegible] majority. Official returns from all counties will not be in for several days.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov 7—Latest returns show that McLane, dem., has a majority in the state of 13,000. The senate stands 14 democrats and 11 republicans, and the house of delegates 63 democrats to 26 republicans, giving a democratic majority of [illegible] on joint ballot.

Virginia.

RICHMOND, Nov 7—[Special]—Mahone's organ concedes the senate and house to the democrats by a small majority, and possibly they may have two-thirds in both branches. The popular majority of the democrats, it says, will be [illegible] 1000.

RICHMOND, Nov 7—The senate stands: Democrats 22, coalitionists [illegible], doubtful [illegible]. House of representatives: Democrats 60, coalitionists 29, doubtful 11. When the doubtful counties are heard from the democratic majority on joint ballot will probably reach 25.

Mississippi.

JACKSON, Nov 7—Latest returns show no change in the result of the election announced last night, except that of [illegible] county, where the fusion ticket was defeated by a small majority. Adams, Hinds, Madison and Monroe counties gave good fusion majorities. The regular democratic ticket had little opposition elsewhere.

Minnesota.

ST PAUL, Nov 7—Official returns from six counties and partial returns from about fifty counties, and estimates based upon the election two years ago from the remaining ten counties give Hubbard 14,000 majority and the rest of the republican ticket about 17,000. These figures will not vary much from the official ones.

PRESS COMMENTS.

What the Leading Papers of the Country Say of the Result.

NEW YORK, Nov 7—[Special]—The Times on the total result says: Remembering that this is an off year, that the officers elected play comparatively an unimportant part in the government, that the democracy held the executive office by an overwhelming majority and the legislature by a very strong one, the fact that they have lost the state is exceedingly significant. The leaders who make up their accounts to-night and find the 200,000 to their credit a year ago turned to their debit will, we should say, wish that they had been more economical. The election shows plainly that the independent republicans have regained substantial confidence in their party, that they were satisfied with the character of the candidates, and with the way in which they were chosen; that they recognized in republican organization again an instrument useful for good government, and efficient to carry out the purpose and convictions of the great body of the party. The victory opens up brilliant possibilities for next year. It also imposes in return responsibilities, but only such as can be met if frankly recognized. The work done at the polls yesterday in New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania makes it clear that something besides the empty cry of "turn the rascals out" will be required as the working capital of the democratic party.

THE TRIBUNE.

The Tribune says: Last year showed what a mere administration candidate could do in New York. This year shows, under most adverse circumstances, what candidates simply republican can do. With an equal unity of effort next year and candidates acceptable, New York may clearly be made a republican state in the presidential contest. Since last election, not even the most sanguine republicans have expected to carry New York. Within a week or two the state committee grew more hopeful, but the grounds of their confidence were not apparent. The party had been badly disorganized or demoralized by a stunning defeat; the state committee was unfortunately constituted; the canvass was in the last degree apathetic; there were no meetings, no speakers, few documents; there was next to no money. After the crushing blow of the unexpected loss of Ohio, a reduction of the democratic majority from 200,000 to 25,000 would be in itself a brilliant victory. We have possibly elected the head of the ticket. The senate is certainly republican. The assembly is heavily so. The legislative branch of state government is redeemed, and the power for mischief of the democratic governor destroyed, and a republican United States senator next year made possible.

THE HERALD

NEW YORK, Nov 7—[Special]—"Should New York," says the Herald, "pass into the category of doubtful states in the presidential election of 1884, the managers of the democratic party have nobody but themselves to blame for it."

JOHN KELLY AND TAMMANY

NEW YORK, Nov 7—[Special]—Herald: Although the result yesterday throughout this state was practically a revolution for the democrats, a majority was reduced from [illegible] to [illegible] if there about, and implies an overwhelming change, yet the republicans can hardly congratulate themselves upon all their vote as a legitimate gain for their party. They must not count it without consideration of their friend John Kelly. There is no doubt that a large part of the vote yesterday cast for the republican candidates represents the treason of Tammany hall to the democratic candidates, and stands as an equivalent for the election of only six Tammany aldermen. Although six is a larger number of Tammany aldermen than any honest man would care to see elected in this city, yet this upon the whole is still a triumph for the great boss. As the board of aldermen now stands there are eleven Tammany aldermen, and for this number to be reduced by five is in its way a little Waterloo. Of the other eight aldermen, nine are from the county democracy and the republicans. Tammany's trade with the republican bosses has given her all she possesses.

THE WORLD SATISFIED

NEW YORK, Nov 7—[Special]—The World, under the head of "A Great Verdict," says: "The democratic party achieved a decisive and significant victory in yesterday's election. It has reason to feel gratified at the result. Its hopes of success were tempered by a combination of inauspicious circumstances. Unity of the republican party was made complete by a sense of common danger. Democratic selfishness and folly created damaging dissensions in this city and other parts of the state. A powerful liquor interest exerted its organized influence and used its money to defeat a portion of the democratic state ticket in this city, where a heavy democratic majority was believed to be necessary to afford a chance of success in the state. Bitter factional feuds prevailed. One of the state nominations was unwise. There was little activity and hardly any management on the democratic side of the campaign. Registration was very light. The republicans had plenty of money. In spite of these drawbacks, or rather on account of them, the democratic triumph is of no ordinary character."

THE "SUN'S" SUMMARY

NEW YORK, Nov 7—The Sun says: Maynard, for secretary of state, appears to have run 30,000 votes behind his ticket in this city, Brooklyn, Rochester and Buffalo, and Carr, republican, is elected by from 16,000 to 18,000. Maxwell, democratic candidate for treasurer, lagged behind his ticket in the western part of the state, but probably pulls through. Russell, republican candidate for attorney general, leads Carr and the rest in northern New York, but not enough to put him ahead of Denis O'Brien, democratic nominee. Chairman Daniel Manning, of the democratic state committee, telegraphed that the chief feature of the election had been the cutting of Maynard, democratic candidate for state secretary, in New York and Brooklyn by the liquor interest, and in large cities in the western part of the state through other causes. According to our latest reports the state ticket is elected by about 10,000 majority, except the secretary of state, who is defeated by 15,000. The legislature is republican. The state senate stands 19 republican to 11 democratic, and the assembly 77 republicans to [illegible] democrats. The total vote for mayor in Brooklyn exceeds that cast for the state ticket by nearly 4000. Low's majority is 1688.

THE "TIMES" SUMMARY

NEW YORK, Nov 7—Times: "Full returns from Massachusetts give Robinson a majority of 10,087 over Butler, while Ames has 14,000 for lieutenant governor. Abbott is elected governor of New Jersey by 7500 majority, and the democrats hold the legislature by 5 majority on joint ballot. Republicans in New York have obtained 18 majority in the assembly, and 4 in the senate, but the democrats seem to have secured the minor state offices. A democratic gain in Virginia gives the legislature to that party by a large majority. Reese, rep., is elected supreme court judge in Nebraska by a majority of 10,000. Four fifths of the members of the Missouri legislature will be democrats.

SOUTH CAROLINA REJOICES

COLUMBIA, Nov 7—Great interest was manifested throughout South Carolina over the result of the Virginia election, and when the result of Mahone's defeat was received in this city the enthusiasm of the people was unbounded. The flying artillery fired a salute in honor of the event.

IRREPRESSIBLE BUTLER

He Writes a Letter, Clearly Showing He has not Taken His Eye off the White House

PITTSBURG, Nov 7—The Commercial Gazette this evening telegraphed to B. F. Butler for his views on the result in Massachusetts and asking for his programme for the future. The following reply was received:

BOSTON, Nov 7—9 P. M.—To the editors of the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette: An answer to your question as to the cause of the result in Massachusetts is easy. Last year I had 134,000 votes. The largest vote ever polled was in the Garfield election in 1880. Garfield had 165,000 and Hancock 112,000, total 277,000. This year the vote is 318,000, of which I have 150,000. This enormous increase has been caused by the free use of money, fraud and corruption of my opponents. More votes have been cast than will be in the next presidential year. The 8000 or 9000 plurality of my opponent was more than lost in the city of Boston. Massachusetts is therefore surely democratic. When a man increases the democratic vote from 112,000 to 152,000 in three years, is there any need of an answer to your question of what my programme will be? I am pleased with the result and would rather have my vote than be elected by 135,000. In that case it would be said that Massachusetts is a republican state. She has a large reserve vote, which in presidential elections will come out. Now we have had them all out and measured them, and in the next presidential election, with a judicious platform and popular nomination, at least we should be able to keep republican men and money at home to take care of Butler instead of sending both out to Ohio and Indiana to carry up those states.

JUDICIAL SCANDAL AT KENTUCKY'S CAPITAL

A Masher What is a Masher

LOUISVILLE, Nov 7—[Special]—Since the [illegible] band has been giving concerts at the southern exposition the society ladies have [illegible] this season in a craze since the young ladies first [illegible] city after Fred Innes, trombonist [illegible]. Innes is a handsome fellow about [illegible] years old, six feet high, with a killing mustache and eyes. The young ladies have gone wild over him. Day after day they have fought for front seats, handed him during intermissions, sought introductions, written letters to him and repeated the wild and extravagant story of Brentthorne and [illegible]. City papers have published articles about the craze, and Figaro illustrated the matter. To-day the Courier-Journal [illegible] Innes directly saying he has deserted his wife and children and was a deserter from the British army. This has created a great sensation. Among the ladies who have [illegible] Innes are a large number well known in the highest society, who have walked with him and spent hours loitering in [illegible] near the stand [illegible] he was surrounded by a bevy of admiring girls. He is recognized as not his fault. He has simply accepted homage that he did nothing to induce.

Judicial Scandal from Kentucky

CHICAGO, Nov 7—[Special]—Ex-Judge A. McNamara, formerly circuit judge, and for many years one of the ablest and most prominent lawyers of Kentucky, has for three days been keeping Frankfort, capital of the state, in a turmoil of gossip. He has a family consisting of a wife, three daughters and a son, but has for some time past been notorious for his relations with a woman locally known as "Craw." The city has been alive with rumors that he had shot the woman and in return been shot by her. A large crowd collected about the premises of the woman, who kept her door locked and refused admittance to every one, including officers. A warrant was sworn out on the testimony of a witness, and it was given to a deputy sheriff to serve, but he was refused admittance and told to enter at his peril. What the officers will do in the matter remains to be seen, as McNamara is still barricaded and defies the law.

Grant Assures Porter of his Sympathy and Aid

NEW YORK, Nov 7—Grant has addressed a letter to Porter which concludes: "As long as I have a voice it shall be raised in your support without any reference to the effect upon me or others. Your restoration to the army simply I would regard as very inadequate and unjust reparation, while men, one at least, have been restored to the army because of their gallantry and wounds after conviction and sentence, not only to be dismissed but to be confined in a penitentiary, and when there was doubt of their guilt they were given all their pay for the years they were out of the service. I can see no reason for your having less. I hope for your vindication not only by congress but in the minds of your countrymen."

Cut in the Price of Steel Rails

PITTSBURG, Nov 7—The announcement that the Lackawanna iron mills had taken a contract for 30,000 tons of steel rails at $35 per ton occasioned considerable talk among those interested in the industry here. Thomas M. Carnegie, of the Edgar Thompson and Pittsburg Bessemer mills, in an interview said they could not make the rails at that price, and as orders at hand would not keep the mills running longer than the 1st of January, they would probably be compelled to shut down. By the stoppage of the mills at Homestead and Braddock nearly 5000 men would be thrown out of employment and the coke trade materially interfered with.

Methodist Missionary Society

NEW YORK, Nov 7—The executive committee of the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church have begun their annual session. The following appropriations were recommended: Africa $4600, South America $18,000, Central China $[illegible], Foo Chow $15,000, North China $25,000, West China $12,000, Germany and Switzerland $24,000, Sweden $22,000, Norway $14,000, Denmark $10,000, North India $64,000, South India $10,000, Bulgaria $15,000, Italy $27,000, Mexico $34,000, Japan $[illegible].

Slightly Personal.

CHICAGO, Nov 7—[Special]—The Cleveland Leader of Monday published a long editorial headed "A Nuisance and an Ass," which was devoted to Editor Bickham of the Dayton Journal. It was pointedly personal and drew out the following editorial paragraph in the Journal to-day: "In Monday's Leader you wantonly published a statement concerning me that was utterly without foundation. I denounce you personally as a liar and a slanderer."

Sells His Wife's Body

BALTIMORE, Nov 7—[Special]—The body of Blanche Gray, a fat girl who died here a week ago, has been sold for a small sum of money to Alexander Hill, a surgeon of this city. It is said that Moses, husband of the girl, immediately suggested that he would sell the mammoth corpse, as he was afraid it would be stolen. The corpse will be taken to one of the medical colleges and dissected. The price paid is reported to be $15.

Meeting of the Governor and Council

BOSTON, Nov 7—At a meeting of the governor and council to-day George L. Ruffin, a colored lawyer, was nominated for judge of the Charlestown district court. November 29 was appointed as thanksgiving day. It was voted to ask the opinion of the supreme court as to the legality of Mrs. Clara T. Leonard's membership in the state board of health, lunacy and charity.

Failure of a Lumber Firm

KALAMAZOO, Nov 7—Kellogg, Sawyer & Co., lumber manufacturers of this place, made an assignment to-day to Edward Dales of Michigan. Liabilities are in the neighborhood of $275,000. Assets of the firm $165,000.

A REAL ROMANCE.

Count Alfred Salmsalm is Found Working upon an Illinois Railroad

CHICAGO, Nov 7—[Special]—The papers here have builded a very handsome romance out of a variety of actual facts. One year ago Count Alfred Salmsalm lived in the city of Bonn and was a student of its famous university. He was a handsome young man 19 years of age, with unlimited resources. His father is Prince Frederick Salmsalm, one of the highest and wealthiest nobles of the German empire, a general in the army and a titular chief of the aristocracy of Rhenish Prussia. Prince Salmsalm, who was a colonel on the staff of General McClellan during the late war, and at its close entered the service of Maximilian in Mexico as adjutant general, and fell in the service of Emperor William at the battle of Gravelotte in the Franco-Prussian war, was a relative of Count Alfred. Alfred fell in love with a beautiful lady of the city of Bonn. She was also loved by another student, and the rivalry between them became so warm and personal that a duel was the consequence. The prince forbade all further intercourse between his son and the lady, and publicly announced that he would no longer be responsible for the count's debts. Growing out of this state of affairs the count quitted school and came to America.

THE YOUNG COUNT DISCOVERED

After the departure of his son the father became penitent, and some time having elapsed without any tidings from him, the prince through detectives and the press offered a large sum of money for news concerning him, but none came, and as he was given up as dead. Last week Carl Schneider, who had been a private in the king's hussars, garrisoned at Bonn, met Count Alfred, both being common laborers on the Illinois Central railroad. He advised the prince by letter, and a trusted messenger, Mr. von Malizan, was dispatched from Germany and arrived here a few days ago. The young count was found, his father's forgiveness tendered, his anxiety expressed, and the consent of the count obtained to return home immediately. With his old clothes of a railroad laborer he threw the name of Frederick Reinhardt, by which he was known, and with a new suit he again assumed his hereditary title—Alfred Count Salmsalm. He left for New York yesterday and will sail for home at once. To finish the story perfect, he has remained true to the maiden and is to marry her, though he relinquishes a portion of his fortune in so doing.

SPORTING NOTES

HANLAN'S INTENTIONS

TORONTO, Nov 7—Friends of the oarsman Hanlan are not disposed to regard seriously the proposition of Teemer to row Hanlan this season or early next for $2000. Hanlan himself has no thought now of arranging contests this year. He intends, however, going to Australia by way of San Francisco, and [illegible] the journey across the continent may give a few exhibition races.

BOSTON, Nov 7—[Special]—Hanlan, the oarsman, says he will probably leave to-morrow en route to Australia. He will row at exhibition races in San Francisco and British Columbia before starting to Australia. He was not anxious to match a race with Australian scullers until [illegible] George V. [illegible] would defend his title. George [illegible] will accompany him, and probably a match will be made between Lee and Stevenson in San Francisco.

BILLIARDS IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov 7—In a billiard match between Vignaux and Maurice Daly the former made 600 points to the latter's 126. Vignaux's highest runs were 39, 81 and 58. Daly's were 35, 30 and 17.

In a match between Jacob Schaefer and Rudolphe the former scored 600 to the latter's 294. Schaefer's highest runs were 35, 57 and 57. Rudolphe's were 25, 24 and 45.

Dakota

YANKTON, Nov 7—That portion of the territory south of the forty sixth parallel voted yesterday on the ratification of the constitution adopted at Sioux Falls in September. A complete constitution was made from the best portions of various state constitutions. The proposition is to present it to congress this winter and ask the admission of the south half of Dakota as a state. There being no general election in the territory a light vote was polled.

CHINA'S BAD FAITH

Senator Miller Reports to the State Department Frauds Practiced by Chinese Officials

WASHINGTON, Nov 7—[Special]—Senator Miller yesterday filed with the state and treasury departments a letter with reference to recent attempts to evade the provisions of the Chinese restriction act and the treaty of 1880 by the granting of certificates as merchants, traders, students, etc., by the Chinese superintendent of customs at Canton, to coolies or laborers. In his letter to the state department General Miller first sets forth the facts as to such fraudulent importation, beginning last May, when three coolies arrived at San Francisco by the steamer Arabic, followed by 63 on the same vessel on September 9, 11 on the Oceanic September 18, 60 on the City [illegible] September 2[illegible], 69 on the Rio Janeiro October 13, and 111 on the City of Tokio October 29. He states that while most of these people were disguised in the dress of the class they claim to belong to, it was quite clear that they were coolies or laborers. He quotes the law and treaty to show how their provisions were thus evaded and violated, and states that the customs officers at San Francisco, showing a very just sensibility toward the government of China and rare confidence in her good faith and honor, permitted [illegible] certified coolies to land, but finding those frauds multiply with startling rapidity they refused to land a part of the certified importations by the Rio Janeiro.

AN INQUIRY SUGGESTED

The senator then points out that if this scheme is countenanced by the government of China it is manifest that the government is acting in a manner most offensive and reprehensible, and if it is done without the knowledge or sanction of the imperial government the acts of the official who issues these false certificates cannot be too soon disavowed. He is unwilling to believe that the Chinese government has given its sanction to such a gross violation of the treaty and law, and suggests that inquiries should be made of that government: First, whether the superintendent of customs at Canton is authorized to issue such certificates; second, whether it is known to the imperial government that this official has issued such certificates to Chinese laborers; and third, whether the government of China is prepared to avow or sanction the acts of said official, or whether it disavows the same, and if so to what extent. He then suggests that pending answers to these inquiries the custom officer charged with the execution of the act would be justified in disregarding certificates issued by the superintendent of customs at Canton whenever it manifestly appears that persons holding the same are Chinese laborers, and that instructions to that effect might properly be given by competent authority.

ARTHUR CAUSED ALL THE TROUBLE

The senator then calls attention to the fact that in the first Chinese restriction act, which was vetoed by the president, it was provided that all permits from the imperial government to come from China to the United States should be examined by diplomatic or consular representatives of the United States at ports or places of departure, and that this provision formed one of the objections of the president to the act, and that it was omitted from the present law in order to obviate the president's objections. He points out that under the first act the fraud now practiced would have been impossible without concurrence of our own diplomatic or consular officers, and submits an inquiry whether it is not now practicable, without specific direction of law, to give authority to those officers so to vise certificates, and to give notice on the part of our government that such certificates would be recognized as valid only when properly vised. He says that he believes that the Chinese government would interpose no objection to such a regulation, and that it is competent for the state department to make it.

IN CONCLUSION

He concludes by saying that while the difficulty is that of intrusting to the honor of the Chinese government to designate persons of permitted class, the United States has been defrauded by Chinese officials who have certified to Chinese laborers as merchants, students, etc.

In his letter to the treasury department the senator requests that customs officers be instructed to disregard certificates issued by the superintendent of customs of Canton in cases where the persons certificated as merchants, etc., are evidently and palpably Chinese laborers who are being introduced into the United States in violation of the law and treaty. He incloses to the treasury department a copy of his letter to the state department.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury French stated this evening that his department would await the action of the state department before doing anything in the premises.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

Call for a Meeting of the Committee to Select the Place of Meeting and the Date.

ATCHISON, Kan., Nov 7—Colonel John A. Martin, secretary of the national republican committee, to-day sent out the following call: A meeting of the republican national committee is to be held at the Arlington house, Washington, on Wednesday, Dec. 12, 1883, at 12 o'clock, for the purpose of deciding upon the date and place for holding the next national republican convention. The committee will also elect a chairman vice Governor Marshall Jewell, deceased. At a meeting of the committee held in Washington on the 17th of January last the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the call for the next republican national convention shall be so broad and liberal as to invite co-operation, without imposing any other tests of fealty, of all citizens who are in favor of elevating and dignifying American labor, protecting and extending home industries, giving free popular education to the masses of the people, securing free suffrage and the honest counting of ballots, and effectually protecting all human rights in every section of our common country, and who are willing to support the nominees of the convention.

The committee also fixed the basis of representation in the next national convention and the manner of electing delegates by adopting the following order: The republican national convention of 1884 shall consist of four delegates at large from each state and two delegates from each congressional district. Delegates at large shall be chosen by conventions called on not less than twenty days published notice and held not more than sixty days before the time fixed for the meeting of the national convention. Republicans of various congressional districts shall have option of electing their delegates at a separate popular delegate convention, called on similar notice and held in the districts at any time within the fifteen days next prior to the meeting of the state convention, or by subdivisions of state conventions into district conventions, and such delegates shall be chosen in the latter method if not elected previous to the meeting of the state convention. All district delegates are to be elected by the officers of such district conventions. Two delegates shall be allowed from each territory and from the District of Columbia, similarly chosen. Notice of contests shall be given to the national convention, accompanied by full printed statements of the grounds of the contests, which also shall be made public, and preference in the order of hearing and determining such contests shall be given by the convention according to the dates of reception of such notices and statements by the national committee. A full attendance of members is earnestly requested.

J. A. MARTIN, Secretary.

IN WALL STREET

The Stock Market Quiet and Devoid of Demonstrations

NEW YORK, Nov 7—Governments irregular. In the stock market to-day, though the first effect of the election reports was undoubtedly to induce some buying and advance prices, there were no demonstrations on the part either of the bull or bear cliques, and the market has only drifted. There is still very little dealing in the market on either side by the speculating public outside of Wall street, though there is still a constant volume of investment in the buying and withdrawal of dividend paying stocks from the street over and above what comes in from the class holders. This, however, has but little effect on the fluctuations of the market.

A WIFE MURDERER HANGED

LULING, Tex., Nov 7—At 11 o'clock last night 100 armed and masked men quietly surrounded a house in which was confined John L. Martin, who yesterday confessed to murdering through jealousy his wife, a daughter of Rev. Newton. The guards gave Martin up on demand. All night long previous to that moment the murderer had been protesting that he ought to hang and wanted to hang, but while being carried away groaned piteously and prayed for mercy. At 2 A. M. a larger body of armed men went to the constable's house and asked for the prisoner, but left instantly when informed that they had been preceded. Martin's corpse was found hanging to a tree in the outskirts this morning.

AN EMBEZZLER SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY

CLEVELAND, Nov 7—Kirtland M. Fitch, defaulting cashier of the Warren, Ohio, Second National bank, to-day pleaded guilty of embezzling $80,000, and was sentenced to five years' imprisonment. He was taken to the penitentiary this afternoon.

A PRUSSIAN FORGER ARRESTED

BOSTON, Nov 7—Nathan Szkaloy was arrested on the steamer [illegible] to-day, charged with extensive forgeries in Bromberg, Prussia. Szkaloy was many years in the banking business, but becoming financially embarrassed he forged acceptances for nearly $50,000.

ACCIDENTS

FOUR MEN FATALLY INJURED

COLUMBUS, O., Nov 8—A smash up occurred on the Panhandle road at Rockport, one mile west of Newark, to-night. The Panhandle freight was taking a siding, and the brakeman left the switch standing open. The Baltimore and Ohio passenger ran into the freight, making a fearful wreck. Engineer Matthews of Columbus and a fireman named [illegible] (both of the passenger train) and two others will die.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT IN AN ENGLISH MINE

General Pryor Takes a Statement of O'Donnell's Case—The Franco-Chinese Difficulty—Irish League Notes

ENGLAND

DISASTROUS EXPLOSION

LONDON, Nov 7—An explosion occurred this morning in the Moorfield colliery, Lancashire. One hundred and forty miners were in the colliery. Only six have thus far been rescued.

LONDON, Nov 7—Twenty persons have been rescued, some of whom are badly hurt. It is impossible to estimate the number of persons killed. Parties are searching for the missing miners. The searchers must traverse a distance of a quarter of a mile before reaching the scene of the explosion.

The disaster was at Moorfield colliery, near [illegible]. Thirty [illegible] men have been rescued. [illegible] became [illegible] were imprisoned thereby and there are little hopes of rescuing them. Some were taken through the Whitney pit, a mile [illegible].

LONDON, Nov 7—Twenty five bodies have been taken out of the mine and twenty five more await removal. Latest accounts show that sixty three miners were killed.

GENERAL PRYOR MAKES A STATEMENT

LONDON, Nov 7—General Pryor says he has not applied to take part in O'Donnell's defense and does not propose to make application. He is aware of the rule excluding any but British barristers from British courts, and does not imagine it would be relaxed in his behalf. General Pryor states that O'Donnell is already provided with counsel in whose fidelity his friends have implicit confidence.

Dr. Lindsen, the family physician, was called, but when he arrived the senator was dead. Fatty degeneration of the heart was the cause of his death.

AN EXPENSIVE GATHERING

What It Cost to Hold the Episcopal General Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 28—The Episcopal general convention has been an expensive church gathering. There were about 200 members of the house of deputies and more than sixty bishops who attended the convention and were taken care of by the church in Philadelphia. The actual expenses of the convention for clerical work, printing and other things necessary to such a meeting were not less than around $6000.

The expenses of the entertainment of the clerical delegates and the bishops have been paid by the Episcopal churches in this city, as has been the custom in the places where the conventions have met. It is estimated that this entertainment has cost not less than $11,000. The expenses of the lay delegates, which are paid by themselves, have been about $8000. These three items would make a bill of $25,000, which, however, is really less than half the expenses of the meeting. Traveling expenses of the members will come to about $40,000. Last year they amounted to about $47,000. Therefore, counting all the extra ordinary expenses, the meeting of the convention has cost not much less than $[illegible]. Of this expense Philadelphia has contributed $10,000, and it was therefore no surprise that there were few cordial invitations from the large cities for the entertainment of the convention in 1886.

The Methodist general conference which meets here next spring will be a somewhat larger body. It will meet in Association hall and remain in session about six weeks. Ex-President Hayes and possibly General Grant will be present as lay delegates. It is supposed that the cost of the entertainment of the conference and its general expenses will amount to about $60,000, most of which is provided for by the enormously rich Book Concern in New York, which has profits sufficient to pay the salaries and expenses of all the bishops of the church.

There will be about 500 delegates to the conference, which will be presided over by Bishop Simpson of this city, who since the death of Bishop Scott of Delaware has been the presiding bishop of the church.

RAILROAD NOTES

THE TOPEKA RAILROAD CONFERENCE

TOPEKA, Nov 7—The railroad managers and board of state commissioners met this morning to [illegible] adjustment, but the railroads could not agree and failed to adopt a [illegible] schedule. They could not agree to any schedule rates until the board decided that the Beloit decision must go into effect the 10th inst. After consultation among themselves the railroad managers sent to the board of commissioners a request that they continue the conference and have another meeting with the managers, whereby an adjustment of freight rates can be agreed upon; also that the Beloit decision be suspended until such time as an agreement could be arrived at. This the board refused to consider, and a commission was then appointed by the managers, who prepared and presented an address requesting a continuance of the conference for the purpose of agreeing upon and adjusting rates upon a fair and equitable basis, and pending such conference hold the Beloit decision in abeyance. This committee was composed of Francis, [illegible] A. Emerson and Thomas Miller. The board replied that they were willing to suspend the Beloit decision pending a conference with the managers, with a view to formulating and agreeing upon a schedule of freight rates to be used by the several railroads, with the understanding that the managers desired to make the report in a spirit of fairness and concession and with an honest desire to reach just and fair rates, [illegible] providing said meeting shall take place by the 12th inst.

[illegible] ACCEPTS THE POOL COMMISSIONERSHIP

[illegible], Nov 7—The Transcontinental pool association adjourned meeting from Chicago here this afternoon and evening. A telegram was sent to George W. [illegible], who was elected commissioner of the pool at Chicago last week, and after a few hours' waiting he replied accepting the position. The Union Pacific, Central Pacific, Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio, Burlington and Missouri, Denver and Rio Grande, Northern Pacific, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, St. Louis and San Francisco road were represented. No other business was transacted. Another meeting will be held to-morrow.

The Colorado pool association will hold a meeting to-morrow.

IN DEFENSE OF THE TEXAS PACIFIC

NEW YORK, Nov 7—[Special]—T. J. Cox, of A. Brown & Co., said to-day: The statement in Monday's [illegible] that the Texas Pacific was merely a bear article got up to depress its stock. The Texas Pacific is earning its fixed charges. It makes no difference whether Huntington builds the freight from St. Louis to San Francisco or not. [illegible] business is pooled, and the United States supreme court has decided that each road must have its percentage. It is ridiculous to talk about the Texas Pacific going into the hands of a receiver. Gould never lets his roads go into a receivership.

One Texas Pacific officer said: "For the Texas Pacific being merely a local line, the mere fact that the road is 1487 miles in length and extends from tide water at New Orleans to El Paso, having connection with the Southern Pacific through line to the Pacific coast, and with the Mexican Central to the interior of Mexico, would make it something more than purely a local line. So far as being left out in the cold by the Huntington syndicate is concerned, its contract with the Southern Pacific for through connections and interchange and division of business in Texas is of such a nature that it cannot readily be broken by either party."

POOL CONTRACT VIOLATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 7—The commissioner of the Trunk Line Association having complained that the National Dispatch line was not maintaining the agreed division of California rates, the companies west of the Missouri river addressed a joint circular to their agents ordering them to charge full local rates on all freight for California shipped from Chicago, St. Louis and other western points via the National Dispatch. The Northern Pacific has, it is said, also complied with this request.

RAILROAD CONFERENCE

TOPEKA, Nov [illegible]—A conference was held this evening between railway managers and state board of commissioners, which resulted in the managers making a request of the commissioners that they [illegible] the traffic managers of the various roads [illegible] with them agree upon schedule rates. The commissioners hold their reception until 9 [illegible] to-morrow morning. Nearly all the roads of the state were represented at the meeting.

The ladies of the M. E. Church are perfecting arrangements for their annual Thanksgiving dinner.

George A. Edes has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to visit his business establishment in a carriage.

The Salem board of trade will hold its regular meeting to-morrow (Thursday) evening at the council chamber.

The ladies of the Evangelical church will entertain their friends at the residence of Rev. [illegible] Bowersox on Friday evening next.

Rev. R. W. Hill has become the purchaser of the uncompleted residence of Jacob [illegible] near the capital building. Consideration not stated.

O. J. Tompkins of Albany was in this city to-day en route home. He will start for the eastern states in a few days, where he contemplates taking up his future residence.

The funeral of the late Angus Fraser will take place at 10 o'clock A. M. under the auspices of the Salem lodge, Knights of Pythias, of which he was an honored member.

Twenty four ladies were present last evening and signed their names to the membership roll of the ladies' auxiliary post G. A. R. Further organization was postponed until the arrival of the necessary books and charter. It promises to be a success in every sense of the word.

The supreme court is to-day listening to the argument in the appeal case of the State of Oregon vs William Smith, the appellant being now under sentence of death in this county for attacking Warden Collins of the state penitentiary while with other convicts attempting to escape in July last. The appellant is represented by W. G. Piper, Bonham & Ramsey and S. F. Chadwick, and the state by W. H. Holmes, prosecuting attorney. No little interest is manifested in the result. The prisoner's grandfather, E. Dodge of Oakland, is in the city looking after the interests of his misguided relative. The feeling against the prisoner is less vindictive than it was some time since.

ALBANY NOTES.

ALBANY, Nov 6

The entertainment by the band boys will be given about the 24th of this month.

City Recorder Henton has been confined to his room several days with illness.

Miss Angie McCullough of Salem is visiting friends in this city, a guest of the Misses Mansfield.

The wife of Marshal Burkhart has been confined to her room for some time with severe illness, but is now convalescent.

Colonel Garrett of Peoria died last Saturday evening from the injuries recently received while mooring the ferryboat at that place.

The trumpets recently presented the fire boys by the railroad company are on exhibition in Hoffman & Joseph's show window. They are beauties and attract much attention.

Last Saturday night at 9 o'clock Oliver Gordon died at the home of his parents in this city of congestion of the bowels. Deceased was 21 years of age and was highly respected by all who knew him. Mr. Gordon, father of the deceased, is in the east, having gone on the pioneers' excursion.

Messrs. Best & Althouse are having a dry house and blacksmith shop built on the vacant lot just below their factory. They have commenced the building of sixty of their celebrated machines, which they will complete by next harvest. While in California last fall, Mr. Best sold and contracted for sixty five of these machines.

At the recent session of the grand jury that honorable body recommended, as a measure of economy, the county provide itself with a suitable piece of land with proper buildings to be used as a home for the indigent poor. The measure has been quite freely discussed and meets with general approbation, and next spring it will probably be consummated.

Last Saturday evening Mr. Guy Parish, living seven miles below town, started home in a wagon. When about five miles on the road his horses became frightened at a pile of wood and ran away. Mr. Parish was thrown out, and striking in a fence corner was severely injured. Besides several severe bruises he received a scalp wound five inches in length. After remaining in an insensible condition for some time he recovered sufficiently to make his way to a neighbor's, who conveyed him home. Dr. Hill of this city was summoned, who dressed his wounds, and he is now in a fair way to recover.

The able Chicago editor who said the man who had been chosen vice-president was ever after elected president had probably never heard of John Adams or Thomas Jefferson or Martin Van Buren, for each of these men were chosen to the presidency after having held the second office. CALIFORNIA

A Land Scheme

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 7—[Special]—An attempt was made a few weeks ago to organize a syndicate for the purchase of an extensive tract of land in eastern Oregon, in which a number of local capitalists were said to be interested. It was represented at the time by parties owning lands contiguous to the tract that in view of immigration then likely to pour into the northwest next year a rich harvest could be made by dividing the land into small farms and disposing of them to intending settlers at a minimum of $4 per acre. It is understood that the tract in its entirety was offered at an average of $2 per acre, and that the only thing necessary for the transfer was the satisfaction of a number of conflicting claims, which at one time appeared certain. At the last moment, however, a merchant of the city who has a large interest in the tract refused to dispose of his land at the general rate offered, and for this reason the sale fell through. Arrangements are now being made to secure as much of the tract as [illegible] the conflicting interests. It is denied that the object of the purchase is to speculate on settlers.

Merchants Losing Faith.

[Special]—Strangely enough no answer has been received to the dispatch sent to representatives of the Northern Pacific inquiring as to the attitude of the road on the question of competition for California trade. There is a growing suspicion among the merchants that the stand taken by the road shortly after adjournment of the conference held here has changed considerably. In a number of cases they are disposed to lose confidence in the promises of speedy relief, and are beginning to look to a renewal of special contracts. Others are content to wait for an official statement showing exactly the position assumed by the Northern Pacific before taking any action.

IMPORTANT MORTGAGE FILED.

The Oregon and California Railroad the Party of the First Part.

ASTORIA, Nov 7—[Special]—A very lengthy mortgage was filed to-day in the office of the county clerk from the Oregon and California Railroad Company of the first part, the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of the second part, and Peebles, Hodgkinson & Burnham of the third part. The instrument recited the circumstances attending the organization of the company and the gift of lands to aid in the construction of its lines of railroad, in extending a line from Portland to Astoria, via McMinnville, and among other facts set forth that the company proposes to complete its railroad from a point at or near Forest Grove to tide water at or near Astoria, and that the trustees have been authorized to execute a second mortgage of $10,000 per mile, in addition to the mortgage of $20,000 a mile already executed. Therefore the Oregon and California Railroad Company issues bonds secured by the instrument in question, dated May 2, 1883, on all the railroads of said company, constructed and to be constructed, including that from Portland to Astoria, the rolling stock and other property of said company of every description, except the lands granted by the United States to aid in the construction of said railroads. The company covenants with the trustees that it shall proceed with all reasonable dispatch to complete the road from Portland to San Francisco, but is silent relative to any work on the Astoria and Forest Grove road. The instrument bears the signatures of many London and New York magnates. There are nineteen documents in all. The mortgage was executed May 26, and copies have been traveling around Europe and America ever since. The last signature bears date of October 25.

THE MURDER OF MRS. FINLAYSON.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

ALBANY, Nov 6

The killing of Mrs. Finlayson was one of the most foul and brutal murders ever perpetrated in the state of Oregon. Mr. Finlayson started to Brownsville about 1 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, leaving his wife and a grandson aged 16 years at home, instructing the latter to plow until his return, which would be Monday noon. As he agreed he returned at that time, and after putting his team away went to the house, but could find no one, the doors all being locked and the window curtains pulled down. He then went to Mr. McCoy's, a neighbor, and inquired for his folks, but they had seen nothing of them. Then, in company with Mr. Wrenn, he returned to his house, and getting a chair, raised a window and climbed in, and opening a door, admitted Mr. Wrenn. Together they went to the bed room, and there found Mrs. Finlayson lying dead in a pool of blood. The room had been ransacked, drawers of the desk broken open, and many valuable papers were lying scattered promiscuously about the floor. Near the dead body of the woman lay a bloody ax, and on the desk lay a bloody knife, the implements with which the despicable crime had been committed. Appearances would indicate that the murderer had commenced to plunder the drawers in the desk and the deceased, hearing the noise, had entered the room, and in the struggle which followed she was killed. That the crime was a most brutal one is evidenced from the fact that she was stabbed twenty seven times—sixteen times in the back near the left shoulder blade, twice in the hand, which were evidently done in defending herself, and nine times in the neck. The skull just over the left ear was also smashed, as if struck by an ax.

Testimony before the coroner's jury showed that blood was found on the door knobs leading directly to the grandson's room, and there the clothes he wore when Mr. Finlayson left home were found, the shirt with blood on the right wristband and sleeve. Saturday afternoon he came to town, and, buying a new overcoat and pair of shoes, left, and has not since been heard of.

In accordance with the above facts and much other evidence which was brought in, the jury rendered a verdict substantially that the deceased came to her death from wounds caused by an ax and pocket knife, and that in the opinion of the jury Charles H. Finlayson committed the crime. A warrant was accordingly issued for his arrest, but no trace of him has yet been found.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SUPPOSED MURDERER

The following description of Charles [illegible] Finlayson, who is charged with murdering his stepmother near Albany a few days since, is published in hopes that he may be recognized by the marshal of some interior town and arrested. Finlayson is 16 years old, height 5 feet 7 inches, weight about 13[illegible] pounds, dark brown hair, considerably freckled, front teeth somewhat decayed, which is noticeable in talking. When last seen, wore dark clothes, black hat with broad brim, new chinchilla overcoat of brownish blue color with black velvet collar, pair of stoga shoes, No. 8, with small black buckle on side, carries a small silver watch with nickel chain. He was in this city on Monday, and it is thought stopped at a hotel here that night, and left for The Dalles in the morning.

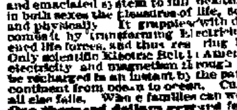
ELECTRICITY IS THE LIFE!



These Belts cure diseases that medicine aggravates and makes worse. It fills the blood with Electricity; its power strengthens the entire body. Hundreds of the leading physicians are using and recommending these Belts. This modern improved Belt not only restores the debilitated, weak and emaciated system to full health, but it enlarges in both sexes the pleasures of life, sexually, mentally and physically. It grapples with disease and overcomes it by transforming Electricity into the weakened life forces, and thus restoring health and vigor. Only scientific Electric Belt in America that sends the electricity and magnetism through the body and can be recharged in an instant by the patient. Sweeps the continent from ocean to ocean. Cures diseases when all else fails. Whole families can wear the same belt. One thousand dollars reward for one that cannot be recharged and the electricity felt instantly by the patient. Guaranteed for one year. Beware of those presenting false claims. My Belt received two Gold Medals at the California State Fair, also at the Denver Exposition. I challenge any one to show the same. We administer in our Free Electric Institute, which cost us $1000, every system of Hot Baths with Medical Electricity. Consult the Doctor, free. We keep the best Electric Belts made in the United States (6 different kinds), and Electric Trusses. Write or come and see us.

DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated Liver Pills

In offering to the public Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills as a remedy for Liver and Billious Complaints, we presume no apology will be needed. The great prevalence of Liver Complaint and Billious Diseases of all kinds throughout the United States and particularly in the West and South, where, in the majority of cases, the patient is not within the reach of a regular physician, requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be safe and effectual. That such is the character of Dr. C. McLane's Liver Pills, there can be no doubt. The great success which has invariably attended their use, will, we think, be sufficient to convince the most incredulous. It has been our sincere wish that these Pills should be fairly tested, and stand or fall by the effects produced. That they have been so tested and that the result has been in every respect favorable, we call tens of thousands to witness who have experienced their beneficial effects.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS

are not held forth or recommended (like most of the popular medicines of the day), as universal cure-alls, but simply as a specific for Liver Complaints, and those symptoms connected with a deranged state of that organ.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK

The most noticeable feature in the last elections has been the absence of national issues. This in many respects has been a fortunate thing. It has been our custom to expend far more interest and energy upon general elections than upon local, and as a result local affairs have suffered. While attention has been concentrated upon national issues bad men have gained control of the local and municipal offices, and jobs have been done in legislatures. It has been often a source of surprise to European observers that so much interest should be absorbed by national elections while the voters are really more affected by the manner in which local affairs are administered. In these recent elections the tariff has been talked about, but the parties differ almost as much among themselves as with each other upon it. In Iowa and Ohio the exciting contest was upon the regulation of the liquor traffic, while the sharpest campaigns were in Massachusetts and Maryland, with the issues of Butlerism in the one case and ringism in the other, and more personal domination in both. The issues which will divide the states in the presidential contest are not yet clearly defined, but there is no reason to assume that they will be identical with those upon which the people have just passed judgment. It seems that in Ohio there was a sufficiently large number in favor of a prohibitory amendment to frighten a certain section of voters, usually republican, into the ranks of the democracy. That is about all that remains of obvious significance in the contest, and the fact that while the second amendment received 322,000 out of 711,000 votes, the prohibition candidate received only 5600, shows where the amendment derived its support. There may be a permanent division in the state on the liquor question, but that would lead to an entire readjustment of the framework of party opinion. Assuming, therefore, that the present parties will remain in the field, nothing of national significance was decided in October. The same may be said, though with different reasons, of Iowa. In New York and Pennsylvania only local minor state officers and legislators were voted for and the campaigns were remarkable chiefly for dullness. The idea, however, that New York is hopelessly democratic rests upon a misapprehension. In 1882 the democrats made the best possible showing, while the republicans in 1880 simply polled their full strength without the advantage of any disaffections in the ranks of the democracy. This much everybody will admit, and the admission really covers the whole case, for the republican vote in 1880 was 20,000 more than the democratic vote in 1882, or, to be exact, the Garfield vote was 555 418, the Cleveland vote, 535,956. It is only necessary to harmonize the republican party and infuse into it the enthusiasm of a national campaign to insure a republican victory.

It is too early to make confident predictions of the event of the presidential struggle of 1884. A great many things will intervene. A session of the democratic congress will have been held before that date, and there will be abundant opportunities for mistakes. A halting tariff policy will alienate the support of revenue reformers who would be democrats if democracy should be found to mean sound economic policy and determined leadership, and might change entirely the present prospects of a great party. Civil service reform, too, is to be put in practice, and the sincerity of those in power tested and judged by their performances. There is no prospect that either party will have a walk-over to the White house, but the advantage must be conceded to the republicans.

THE PENSION ROBBERS.

Colonel Corkhill, the district attorney of Washington, has made a careful examination of the complaints that veteran soldiers and poor widows of brave men who fell in the late war have been systematically robbed by pension agents, and says: "The character of the enormous frauds which are being perpetrated will, if the allegations are sustained by the evidence, surprise the public. The devices employed are as numerous as the skill of dishonest men can contrive." The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post explains some of the devices alluded to, in an interesting dispatch to that paper. Some of these agents have great establishments and employ more clerks than some government bureaus, and receive many hundreds, sometimes thousands, of letters every day. They have from 50,000 to 100,000 names of old soldiers, widows, and orphans on their rolls. To these people they send lying circulars announcing the passage of a bill that will increase a pension already received, or give an original right to one, when in fact no such bill has been passed, or they pretend to the discovery of a new claim under an old law. One firm has been known to send out a circular announcing that desertion has been discovered to be no bar to a pension. Another firm paid $1000 for an advance copy of the recently published list of pensioners. These circulars are sometimes sent to poor widows, who are robbed of money they can ill afford to lose. Generally the circulars say that for twenty five or fifty cents or one dollar the claim will be filed, and great sums are collected in this way. Then again, unimportant papers are sent C. O. D., and $1.0 is wrung from a poor victim. Offers are made to secure special legislation, and money is obtained for efforts that are never made.

The fact that Colonel Corkhill has noticed these complaints is regarded by the New York Times as evidence that he has learned something about his duty as district attorney in the last two or three years. When the star route frauds were first brought to his attention, and the evidence laid before him, instead of presenting it to the grand jury he communicated it to the leader of the conspirators against whom the charges had been made. It is probable, the Times thinks, that he has frequently regretted his failure to proceed against those rascals; and it gives him credit for his zeal in trying to punish the pension swindlers. Already Secretary Teller has suspended a large number of these agents at the recommendation of Commissioner Dudley, among others the notorious firm of Fitzgerald & Co., one member of which made a personal assault upon General Boynton, the correspondent of the Commercial-Gazette, last August. It is the desire of the department of justice that all persons who have received circulars from persons styling themselves pension agents shall forward them to the office of the attorney general. In this way evidence can be accumulated that will eventually lead to the punishment of the perpetrators of one of the wickedest and most far-reaching swindles of the day.

The state of Illinois does not seem to be much better off than Oregon. President Tanner of Illinois college, who wishes for monetary contributions from the east, says that ten years ago the land of Illinois was mortgaged for half its value. He is probably within the mark, but he declares that it will take ten years more to pay off the mortgages, not in cities, but of the farms. This is not as flattering an exhibit as we would have expected from the state which has had the possession of such fertile land and the benefit of such extraordinary facilities of getting to market, to say nothing of the immense amount of money which has been expended by eastern capitalists in constructing her railroads. The state, says President Tanner, is doing business on borrowed capital. If so, she had better make the best of her schools, and leave colleges until she can support them.

The republican party doubtless "must go" —some time; but the elections of Tuesday suggest the possibility that the event may again be postponed, notwithstanding our democratic brethren have thought it so near.

RAILROAD MANAGEMENT AT LONG RANGE.

Noting the resignation of General Haupt and the assumption of the working management of the Northern Pacific by Mr Oakes the Minneapolis Tribune speaks very intelligently and sensibly. A revolution, it says, so radical as that now going into effect in the management of the road, has a meaning and that it means that the affairs of this great company have hitherto been managed too much at arm's length from Wall street and not enough at close quarters by officials of high rank having their headquarters on the line of the road and in the field tributary to its traffic. The same fault existed under the original organization and it cursed the enterprise then as it has cursed it under every management since. No matter how competent and faithful subordinates may be, subordinates removed 1500 miles from their superiors, and compelled to make explanations and ask instructions before any important step can be taken cannot conduct the practical affairs of a great transportation system with half the efficiency or economy that would be possible were those superiors on the ground or near enough to be easily and instantly accessible. Every great railway system in the United States which has been noted for aggressive success has had this prime advantage of being managed by its chief owners or the immediate representatives of its chief owners, who have made their home at some central point of the system and dealt with all problems as they rose promptly and conclusively. Noteworthy and representative examples are the Central Pacific system, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Minneapolis and Manitoba and the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul. General Grant did not conquer the rebellion with his headquarters in Washington, Sheridan did not achieve his Shenandoah triumphs by sending slow-coach orders from Harper's Ferry to the front and Sherman did not march his army to the sea by directing the movement from Louisville. The disadvantages of operating the Northern Pacific "at arm's length" have been apparent at this end of the line, a conspicuous instance being the banking up and delay of the grand excursion at the Snake river crossing. The time table for the excursion trains was arranged in New York quite evidently without proper knowledge of the working conditions of the line. Two hours were allowed by schedule for the transfer at Ainsworth, but it actually took thirteen to get across. And such incidents have been frequent. Mr Oakes has all requirements for the great work of management and it is to be hoped that he will continue to hold it in his own hands.

GERMAN RESTRICTION

Bismarck's bill, designed to check emigration from Germany to America, is a very adroit measure, and, as it will be agreeable to many interests, it will probably pass the Reichstag. The law in substance is that no person shall be permitted to leave the fatherland without having first fulfilled all his obligations. If he owes debts there, he cannot leave until his debts are paid. If he has a wife and children he must take them with him. If he has a sweetheart, with whom he has been too intimate he must provide the community against the charge of illegitimate children, and finally if he has not served the allotted time in the army, to which every German citizen is subject he cannot leave the country. These regulations are so stringent that no German can hereafter emigrate without a passport duly obtained from the German government. The desire to keep the able bodied Germans at home for the army is undoubtedly the motive of the new law. But Bismarck has ingeniously added many obligations about debts and children, which will render it more acceptable to the German nation. It is that the effect of the law will be to reduce the volume of emigration to the United States at least fifty per cent. This we do not believe will be an evil, even admitting the claim that the German is the best element of our European immigration. We do not want to receive more foreigners than we can assimilate, and it will probably be well to have them in smaller installments for a few years.

If General Butler had been re-elected he would have been, as we have said, a formidable candidate for the nomination of the democratic party for president. It is probable now that he will be in the field, for he recently said in Washington that whether he is the democratic nominee or not, the independent labor party will certainly run an electoral ticket in 1884, and it was not necessary for him to add that only Butler will be their candidate. As more of the voters of this new party will be drawn from the democratic ranks than from republican, there are wise politicians who see in this the probable chance of republican success. Lincoln was the choice of the minority of the country, but elected through the divisions of his opponents. In a total vote of 4,679,881 Lincoln received only 1,865,913, less than half a million more than Douglass and yet he had 180 of the 303 electoral votes, while Douglass had only 12, less than either Breckenridge or Bell, although his popular vote was nearly equal to that of both these candidates. In the last election Garfield had only a plurality of 3834. The coming contest will be very close, and with Butler in the field, as we regard it as certain that he will be the chances for republican success will be greatly increased. The democrats in using him to humiliate Massachusetts, may find that they have hatched a nice lot of chickens that another year will come home to roost. The Boston Post admits that he can still make trouble in the democratic family but it says he cannot enter upon his cherished scheme of Tammanizing the country with the prestige of Massachusetts behind him.

The doctrine of Henry George's book, that there is no rightful property in land, and that the products of labor form the only natural basis of property, is rapidly spreading among the lower classes of Europe, and gaining ground also in this country. An organization based on this theory, and calling itself the American Free Soil Society, was formed in New York in June, with Louis F. Post, candidate for attorney general of the state, as president, Charles Frederick Adams as secretary and Rev. R Heber Newton as treasurer. Now there are ten groups or subordinate associations in New York city, eight in Brooklyn, four in Chicago, and the society is represented in twenty-three states and territories. It is diligently spreading its doctrines by means of circulars and will not only seek to influence legislation in the various states, but will propose to the next congress a constitutional amendment forbidding either general or state governments to further alienate lands save with the reservation of the current ground rent. We have been preserved from many of the social and political questions that agitate Europe because of our government domain. As that becomes exhausted and our population increases we shall be compelled to meet these questions, and it will require something more than mere smartness to meet them successfully.

Kansas calls attention to the fact that the supreme court decision regarding the civil rights act does not affect her, inasmuch as she passed a civil rights law for herself before congress took up the question. This law provides that the making of any distinction because of race or color, by the officers of schools the managers of hotels boarding houses and transportation companies, shall be treated as a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of from $10 to $1000 while the injured party may also sue for damages. Other states have provisions in their bills of rights, or in statute laws similar to this, and it is probable that the negroes will insist upon a pledge from the party to which they give their support in the southern states, to work for the passage of such laws.

The verdict last year was that "the bosses must go." This year emphasizes that verdict, and adds to it, "the galoots must go."

A RUINOUS SYSTEM

Oregon is not the only country which suffers from the credit system. The best journals of the southern states are raising their voices against it declaring it to be now, as before the war, an evil and a curse. It is true that much of the poverty of the south is attributable to the commonness of the credit system in the dealings of tillers of the soil with tradesmen. Not only the blacks, but also the whites are impoverished by the exactions of those from whom they receive credit. It is estimated that fairly one fifth of the value of the cotton crop or more than $30 000 000, was sacrificed by those engaged in its production through the credit system. A part of the sacrifice was made in the payment of interest on loans and a part in the payment of the difference between cash and credit prices for goods. The credit system as practiced at the south is perhaps the greatest obstacle to the prosperity of the people. Every one knows that credit is indispensable to modern commerce but it is not indispensable to the day wage man at the south in Oregon or anywhere else in his dealings with the butcher the grocer or the clothier. It is estimated that the savings of the French people are about $600 000 000 a year or nearly five times as much as the savings of the British and since the difference is explained by the habits of economy in industry which are characteristic of the French.

The defeat of Mahoneism in Virginia though less a cause for rejoicing to thoughtful minds than the overthrow of Butlerism in Massachusetts, is still very grateful. Mahone is a bold unscrupulous and selfish man. His party is himself. When he first broke with the Bourbons it seemed as if some good might result through the disintegration of the solid south which his break foreshadowed but this was not the result and his influence has been only demoralizing and corrupting in Washington and in his own state. He was of consequence only so long as he was in possession of a power which he used like a tyrant. He was a martinet in the Confederate army, an exceedingly hard manager of men while at the head of a railroad and the reports even indicate that he instigated the riot at Danville to strengthen his desperate canvass. His defeat will remove one demoralizing force from the republican national convention. (He will have no standing anywhere, for he has utterly forfeited his claim to be a democrat and if in his retirement, he could take George C Gorham with him, decency in politics would score a still greater victory.

The supreme court of the state of Minnesota has recently given a decision which is of interest to persons living on the line of a railroad. Although not essential to an understanding of the case it is worth noticing that the law of Minnesota presumes negligence in the running of an engine when fire is caused by escaping sparks. The case was this. Sparks from an engine of a railroad set fire to the barn of N, the wind carried the flames to the barn of J, which was also burned. J sued the railroad company, which pleaded negligence in N. The court said "The fault of N was not in any thing he did or neglected to do after the fire was thrown from the engine but in this, that he disregarded his duty to his neighbors by having his property in such a condition that fire would be readily communicated to their property. Either one of the wrong doers is responsible, and the concurrent negligence of the other would be no defense. The defendant was negligent and must pay the judgment."

Returns from all but one of the towns in Massachusetts give Robinson 160 161 Butler 150 071 Almy 15[illegible] a total of 311 78[illegible]. This is the largest vote ever cast in the state. It is said that Butler's defeat is due to the fact that the usually indifferent element the gentlemen who attach less consequence to the ballot than the typical Irish voter does, went to the polls this year. The largest vote ever cast in the state before was 282,512 in the presidential election of 1880. Last year the total vote was 2[illegible]6 278 of which Butler received 133,946 and a plurality of 13 946. The great increase over his vote last year just fits the confidence he felt in his election, as well as the apprehensions of many republicans. The prohibitionists it will be noticed cast a very small vote only 1553 against 9124 in 1875, and 2141 last year.

In 1881 General Haupt made a five years contract to act as general manager of the Northern Pacific road, at $8 000 a year. It is said he will claim the salary for the remainder of the time.

FOR HER MOTHER'S SAKE

Canadians Heave a Sigh of Relief at the Departure of Louise

MONTREAL, Oct 22 —When Princess Louise arrived in Canada society was as nearly wild as society can well be, and now that her royal highness is going home to her royal mamma society is wild again. In the interim society managed to keep its head tolerably level, as the princess had not been in Canada a month before it became apparent that she had none of the cordiality that was so distinguishing a characteristic of the countess of Dufferin her predecessor at the viceregal residence at Ottawa and none of the winning qualities that made that lady so dear to the hearts and homes of Canada.

Her royal highness affected art and displayed to wondering eyes many dainty daubs that native artists praised without stint. Her royal highness was a worshipper at the shrine of the god of estheticism and patronized such crazy apostles of the great too too as ventured into these backwoods. Her royal highness was also a patron of literature, and smiled graciously upon all small "literary fellers." But as this people are intensely practical, with no nonsense about them working away like beavers to build up a prosperous dominion, they did not take kindly to her royal highness, and her circle of friends was so limited that no one was surprised when the child of royalty began to cry for her mamma.

That the Princess has been discontented over her banishment from the royal halls at Windsor to the little backwoods town of Ottawa has never been a secret and Canadians in the goodness of their hearts have tried to divert her mind by superb entertainments and novel sports. They loved her for her mother's sake. They thought that in honoring her they were honoring her royal mother. But her discontent increased to such a degree that her crazy little husband determined to take her to Old England. Our newspaper paragraphers and society editors will miss her very much. So, too, will the families of half a dozen of our ginger bread nobs, but the great mass of the people will not miss her. Nevertheless, bon voyage.

Bathing in Salt Lake

Harper's Magazine.

In the water of Salt Lake a bather can lie on the surface of the water without any exertion whatever, or by passing a towel under his knees and holding the two ends he can remain in any depth of water kneeling, with the head and shoulders out of water, or by shifting it under the sole of the feet he can sit on the water. The one exertion in fact, is to keep one's balance. None whatever is required to keep afloat. The only danger, therefore arising from choking by accidentally swallowing some of the water for the strength of the brine is so intense that the muscles of the throat are convulsed and strangulation ensues. All the same, I have myself dived several times into Salt lake and have survived.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, MISS Jan 2 1880.

I wish to say to you that I have been suffering for the last five years with a severe itching all over. I have heard of Hop Bitters and have tried it. I have used up four bottles and it has done me more good than all the doctors and medicines that they could use on or with me. I am old and poor, but feel to bless you for such a relief by your medicine and from torment of the doctors. I have had fifteen doctors at me. One gave me seven ounces of solution of arsenic another took four quarts of blood from me. All that they could tell was that it was skin sickness. Now after these four bottles of your medicine, my skin is well, clean and smooth as ever.

HENRY KNOCHE.

A Decided Advantage

Pittsburg Dispatch

General W S Rosecrans is now engaged in a violent quarrel with two men, both of whom are dead. It might be supposed that he would have the advantage in such a controversy but, so far, the dead men seem to have the best of it, owing to the fact that they both keep silent.

It is not necessary to enter into particulars in reference to the complicated organic and functional difficulties to which the more delicate classes of American women are subject but we take pleasure in saying that Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Great Remedy for all these troubles has an unbounded popularity.

The Steel Age

Public Ledger

Ethnologists and anthropologists tell us there have been three distinct eras in the earthly history of man. There are the "stone age," the "bronze age" and the "iron age." Now they are being succeeded by the "steel age" which some people spell "steal."

A specific, and the only one too for all forms and types of skin disease, is known the world over as Dr Benson's Skin Cure. It is not a patent medicine, but a reliable, certain remedy. Druggists.

It is somewhat noteworthy that, while the aggregate vote for governor in Ohio was 718 164, there were, as the official count shows, only eleven scattering votes, all the rest being given to the four regularly nominated candidates.

SUPREME COURT

SALEM Nov 7

State of Oregon vs John Justus—The judgment of the circuit court reversed and a new trial ordered

SYLLABUS

Under a statute which provides that "no person other than the district attorney can be allowed to be present during the sittings of the grand jury," it is improper although authorized by the district attorney for a stranger to be present during the sittings of the grand jury for the purpose of aiding them in the examination of witnesses but such irregularity after trial and verdict and without any suggestion of injustice or unfairness to the prisoner, is not a sufficient ground for reversal.

Experiments to furnish data for correct inferences must be based as nearly as possible upon conditions and circumstances like those existing in the case at trial, otherwise their tendency is to mislead and confuse the jury.

Experiments made upon pasteboards with the gun with which the deceased was killed by [illegible] witnesses to show powder burns for the purpose of establishing by inference, that the deceased came to his death from the effect of a near gunshot wound. Held inadmissible.

Where the killing is [illegible] susceptible of direct proof, and the fact in issue whether the ball was fired [illegible] at a distance, depends [illegible] upon [illegible] of the law [illegible] that fact and the experience [illegible] does not belong to the ordinary [illegible] within [illegible] particular department of medical science and requires to be [illegible] by the jury [illegible]

It cannot be [illegible] expert [illegible] the [illegible] instrumental [illegible] experiments [illegible] with which [illegible]

But [illegible] whether such evidence was proper [illegible] we would feel [illegible] factum [illegible] in this case it was [illegible] as it was pressed by the state [illegible] vital [illegible]

The general rule is that a party whose negligence causes the death of another is responsible where the business in which he was engaged was legal. If the business was of such a character as [illegible] the offense is murder but where it is perfectly legal [illegible] in the discharge of it when practicing [illegible] must [illegible] There is one exception to the rule as where an act careless in itself, is committed with fatal results in crowded streets or at a place from which it might be reasonably inferred that injury could happen from the carelessness of the party as [illegible] by Lord J Walls, [illegible]

J B Lenton et al vs The Oregon Railway Company. Motion [illegible] appeal [illegible] cause set for trial Thursday and Friday the 21st and 23d insts.

The State of Oregon vs William Smith convicted [illegible] the circuit court [illegible] warden of the penitentiary. Argued and submitted.

Court adjourned until 10 A M tomorrow.

The Northern and Central

Chicago Special to Pioneer Press

The Central Pacific desires to have the contract system perpetuated but the Northern Pacific people claim that they cannot accept the low rates on California business without getting into serious trouble with the shippers at Portland and other Pacific coast points on the line. It is hardly probable that the matter can be settled by the roads themselves and an effort will probably be made to refer the subject to arbitration. Should this effort fail it is almost certain that the Transcontinental association will have to be abandoned and there will be a war among the Pacific railroads, on California business. In such a fight the Central Pacific is certain to get worsted, as the Northern Pacific holds the trump cards, since it has independent outlets all the way to San Francisco. The Union Pacific and Northern Pacific have a traffic agreement among themselves on Oregon business and will work in harmony, no matter what the outcome of the meeting is.

IN JUST EIGHT DAYS.

Hon Thomas L Young of Cincinnati, member of congress from the second district of Ohio suffered with rheumatism for a long time—years in fact—but it was cured by St Jacobs Oil in just eight days.

VIOLATING THE GAME LAW.

Three Dealers Here Innocently Guilty—The Provisions of the Law Quoted.

H. Watkins, Kerron & Haebele, and J. S. Keller were charged in Justice Bybee's court yesterday with having venison in their possession out of season. They claimed that the deer had been sent to them and that they were ignorant of the fact that they were violating the game law by offering them for sale. As soon as notified of this fact they sent the deer back. The case was continued. As the defendants were not knowingly guilty, and it was their first offense, it may be that the cases will be dismissed. For the benefit of interested parties the following sections of the game law are given below:

Section 1. Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, between the 1st day of November in each year, and the 1st day of July of the following year, hunt, pursue, take, kill or destroy any male deer or buck, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who shall, between the 1st day of January and the 1st day of August, from and after the passage of this act, pursue, hunt, take, kill or destroy any female deer or doe, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who, after the passage of this act, shall kill any spotted fawn shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who, after the passage of this act, shall take, kill or destroy any male or female deer at any time, unless the carcass of such animal is used or preserved by the person slaying it, or is sold for food, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 2. Every person who buys, sells or has in possession any of the deer enumerated in the preceding section within the time the taking or killing thereof is prohibited, except such as are tamed or kept for show or curiosity, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

The penalty for violation of any of the provisions of this act is a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $200, or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than five days nor more than three months, or by both such imprisonment and fine.

THE COEUR D'ALENE MINES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SPOKANE FALLS, Nov. 3.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at Cannon's hall here to-night to consider the question of opening a line of communication with the new Coeur d'Alene gold mines. It was resolved to open a wagon road from the head of navigation on the Coeur d'Alene river to the mines, and $1000 was subscribed on the spot. Work will be commenced immediately. A first-class wagon road is a ready open from here to Coeur d'Alene lake. A steamer is now being built at Coeur d'Alene to ply on the lake and river, a distance of thirty miles, and in high water a greater distance, to connect with the road being built, within from twenty to thirty miles of the mines. This will be an easy and practicable route.

The great richness of these mines is now established beyond all doubt. Rich quartz veins have recently been discovered on the Coeur d'Alene river. Wonderful discoveries are also recently reported on the St. Joseph river, which also empties into Coeur d'Alene lake. Thousands will flock to these mines in the spring, from all points.

Spokane Falls will be the center of the principal business and trade of the new mining regions, and bids fair to be the Denver of the northwest.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Chief Watkinds Regales the Members with a Pronunciamento.

BEMOANS BESSER—DIFFERS WITH JUDGE DEADY.

His Lying Charge of Bribery—Honeyman Wants to Know Why Chief William, the Gallant, Went to Texas—Regular Routine Business.

Owing to a large amount of unfinished business in the committee rooms the council was not called to order until several minutes after the appointed hour—7:30. At roll-call all the councilmen were present, except Judge Adams.

Reading of the minutes were begun, but upon motion of Councilman Sears were dispensed with, being considered read and adopted.

Petitions, Remonstrances, etc.,

AGAINST IMPROVEMENT OF COLLEGE STREET.

The following remonstrance from Matthew Davenport, by his attorney, John Catlin, was read by the secretary, and, upon motion of Councilman Sears, was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

To the mayor and common council of the city of Portland: Whereas, notice is given that the common council of the city of Portland proposes to improve College street between Second and Third streets, your petitioner respectfully represents that he is the owner of block No. 138, which lies on the east side of Third street, and east of the east end of said College street and block 138; that College street does not extend easterly of Third street; no street was ever laid out or dedicated through said block 138 by the owner thereof; nor has the city ever opened a street through said block. Stephen Coffin made and filed a map showing streets and blocks on his donation claim, which map is of record in the county clerk's office of this county. Said map shows that the east end of College street is the west line of Third street. Coffin, the donee of government, sold and conveyed the whole of said rectangular block 138, which is now owned by your petitioner. Wherefore your petitioner prays that the common council will not proceed further under said notice.

STREET LAMPS WANTED.

D. F. Robbins, L. W. Larue, J. A. Hack, M. A. Larue, Casper Becker, E. J. Eason and William Koehler ask the council to have a street lamp placed at the southwest corner of Columbia and West Park streets, believing the same to be a necessity under existing circumstances. Upon motion of Honeyman the petition was granted.

A. Waterford, Joseph F. Sedgmor, Julia Condon, Wm. Waterford, A. N. King and W. C. Noon petition for the erection of a lamp on the southwest corner of K and Eleventh streets, representing that it is needed badly. Councilman Sears moved that the petition be referred to the committee on streets. Gerdes moved that the petition be granted, and this last was carried.

O. B. Cardinell, Chas. Cardinell, Henry Scheland, Rev. D. Ross, Wilber Garwood and J. R. Nelson ask that the council cause a street lamp to be erected at the southwest corner of Tenth and College streets. Upon motion of Smith, the petition was granted.

CONTRACTORS ASK FURTHER TIME.

Messrs. Aspland & Dill, who have the contract for improving M street, between North Tenth and North Nineteenth, presented a petition asking the council to grant them an extension of sixty days' time in which to complete the work. The reason given for the request was wet weather and the amount of work in connection therewith. Referred to the committee on streets.

The contractors upon N street also asked an extension of time until Jan. 1, 1884. Their petition was also referred to the committee on streets.

THIRD STREET RAILWAY.

The following petition from the Transcontinental Street Railway Company, who do not wish to build any more track south on Third street, was read by the clerk, and upon motion of Councilman Gerdes was referred to the committee on streets:

To the honorable common council of the city of Portland: Your petitioners, the Transcontinental Street Railway Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Oregon, would respectfully request your honorable body to so modify or amend the ordinance entitled "An ordinance authorizing the Transcontinental Street Railway Company to construct and operate street railways in the city of Portland," which passed the common council on the 20th day of December, 1882, and was approved by the mayor December 22, 1882, so as to allow and authorize it to discontinue the construction of its railway and railway tracks running south on South Third street in the city of Portland, at the north line of Caruthers street, until the council shall hereafter require it to build its said railway and tracks from said north line of Caruthers street to the north line of Sheridan street by giving six months' notice thereof, and to so extend the time for construction thereof. Referred to the committee on streets.

PROTECTION SOUGHT BY TAILORS.

Messrs. G. Heineyer, W. J. Quinn, M. Steffen, P. G. Gaudon, J. Bernstein, D. J. Levy, Marks, Rybke & Co., and W. C. Drugon, merchant tailors, resident in the city of Portland, present a petition for an ordinance that will protect themselves and the manufacture of clothing in the city by requiring a liberal license fee to be paid by all agents and other persons who shall hereafter sell, bargain or solicit orders for the sale of clothing within the city of Portland, which said clothing is to be thereafter manufactured out of said city. Upon motion of Gerdes the petition was referred to the committee on license.

IMPROVEMENT OF NORTH TWELFTH STREET.

J. L. Atkinson & Co., Eugene Perlot, Mrs. C. C. Harlow, Mrs. J. M. C. Tries, the Portland Gas Light Company and R. T. Dale, present a remonstrance against the proposed improvement of North Twelfth street, from the north line of E street to the south line of G street, by grading to the established grade, constructing a brick culvert for Tanner creek, constructing box gutters and by laying sidewalks and crosswalks. Referred to the committee on streets.

OPPOSED TO STONE BLOCK PAVEMENT.

A long list of the names of property owners—over two-thirds of the whole number—along First street, between the center line of Alder street and the south line of Salmon street, were signed to a remonstrance which was read by the clerk, expressing their disapproval of the proposed improvement of that section of street by laying stone block pavement and stone crosswalks. The subscribers to the remonstrance also add that when the street is improved they much prefer to have it done by laying Nicholson pavement. Upon motion of Councilman Sears the remonstrance was referred to the committee on streets.

IMPROVEMENT OF TAYLOR STREET.

Mrs. J. F. McKay, Mary G. Rogers, Kate S. Albright, Lewis Van Vleet, E. S. John and the trustees of the First Methodist Episcopal church, remonstrate against the proposed improvement of Taylor street from the center line of Tenth street to the west line of Twelfth street, by macadamizing the roadway full width, with stone gutters at the intersections, and by constructing sidewalks and crosswalks, and doing the necessary grading therefor. Upon motion of Councilman Adams, the petition was referred to the committee on streets.

Reports.

From the committee on fire and water, recommending that the claim of Wm. Wascher be paid. Adopted.

From the committee on streets, recommending the improvement of Water street. Adopted.

From the same committee, recommending the passage of the ordinance establishing a new gas company.

From the same committee, recommending the passage of the ordinance authorizing the extension and alteration of the building on lot 4 and block 10, owned by L. Rachenberger.

From the committee on judiciary, reporting favorably on the petition of T. D. Rumple for a rebate of $22 20 for taxes, and costs wrongfully assessed against him. Adopted.

From the committee on landings and wharves, recommending that the petition of the Willamette Iron Works and the Portland Gas Company for permission to extend their wharves to the established wharf line be granted. Adopted.

From the viewers of the proposed extension of North Front street from Watson's addition to Deacher's tract. Referred to the committee on streets.

From the viewers in the matter of the proposed lateral extension of Second street from Yamhill to Taylor. Referred to the committee on streets.

CHIEF WATKINDS' CENSORSHIP.

The following report from Chief of Police Watkinds was then read:

To the mayor and common council of the city of Portland:—I beg leave to make the following report to your honorable body: For the month of October, 1883, 305 arrests were made by the police force for which the city has received the sum of $2088 95.

The total expenses for the same period amounted to $3226.

Of the sum collected a large amount was derived from fines for the violation of ordinance No. 2983, known as the gambling and gaming ordinance.

The United States district court for the district of Oregon has decided that the city of Portland possesses no power under the city charter to punish gambling and gaming. This court is regarded as the highest judicial tribunal in the state. While I doubt the correctness of the opinion expressed by the court, at the same time I will obey the interpretation of the law, and no more arrests under ordinance No. 2983 will be made for gambling by this office until the soundness of this decision shall have been made known.

While absent from the city recently your honorable body adopted a resolution removing my clerk from the position in which he was serving, for what reason I am unable to say.

On August 15, 1883, the following resolution was passed by your honorable body:

"Resolved, That the chief of police be authorized and directed to employ a clerk in his office to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of L. F. Goodwin, until such time as there shall be a person appointed and confirmed to fill such vacancy, the salary of such clerk to be at the rate of $90 per month."

In obedience to the authority thus granted to me by the above resolution, I proceeded to appoint a person fully competent to fill the position as described. There were no charges made against him while acting as clerk; he did his duty well in every respect, so far as I know or can ascertain.

While I doubt the legal authority of the resolution I reluctantly submit. I gave to the city bonds for all moneys that might pass through the office, and as long as myself and bondsmen were satisfied of the clerk's honesty and faithful performance of duty he should have remained in the office until the mayor appointed another person as expressed in the above resolution.

I offered the place to two other persons before offering it to L. Besser, both of whom declined to accept.

The clerk of my predecessor, Mr. Lappeus, did nothing for six months, a fact known to some of the members of the council, yet no word of condemnation was uttered against the then chief of police or his clerk.

Your honorable body on Oct. 10, 1883, passed a resolution offered by Councilman Honeyman as follows:

"Resolved, That the police authorities are hereby directed to forthwith arrest all keepers or proprietors of bar-rooms and drinking shops who have not secured a license as provided for under the provisions of ordinance No. 3711."

This resolution could not have been conceived by its author for any other purpose except to be a direct insult to this office. It is presumed when an officer swears to enforce the laws of the city, that he means to do so. Such, at least, was my understanding of the official oath to which I subscribed when I took charge of the office which I have the honor now to hold.

When I took charge of the office more than 125 bar-rooms and drinking shops were running without license, and had been for six months. Why was the author of the resolution silent at that time? Your honorable body and the public are left to determine.

The police department of the city has its rights as well as any other, including members of the council, and they ought to be respected.

On taking charge of the office of chief of police my predecessor refused to turn over to me property belonging to and in charge of the department. Many persons have come to the office inquiring for property claimed to have been left with him and in his care which could not be found. I call your attention, in this connection, to the case of J. J. Fagan of this city. Attached to this paper will be found letters and newspaper reports, together with an inventory of property claimed, which point significantly to past official "crookedness" in this office.

I must call your attention again to the books of my predecessor. Unless the council employ a competent clerk to write up the unfinished records, there will remain a period of eighteen months as instances which must ever count one blank pages in the police history of Portland.

In conclusion, permit me to call your attention to a matter of grave importance to the city—one which may have affected heretofore, or may hereafter affect its financial department—which is this: An attempt was made about the 26th day of September, 1883, by a representative of the Telegram, to bribe the clerk of the chief police.

The said representative of the Telegram, for certain printing done and to be done for this office, offered and proposed to said clerk that he would present bills for printing in which he would charge up double or more than the regular prices, and if said bills were allowed and paid that he would divide with the clerk all of the amount so overpaid, and upon the clerk of this office declining the offer, the representative of the Telegram informed him that they had such an arrangement with my predecessor and it was all right, etc; that they had always settled and collected bills in that way.

W. H. WATKINDS, Chief of Police.

"Does he say that the clerk declined the offer?" asked Councilman Sears.

"Yes, there is a mention of that fact," replied the clerk.

A BATCH OF OLD CITATIONS.

Clerk Curry then went on to read several old letters and newspaper clippings which the vigilant chief had appended to his already lengthy report. The substance of these has already been published, and is to the effect that a man named Fagan found a valise on the street and gave it to Chief Lappeus, who claimed that he sent it to a man named Fagan at The Dalles. The inference that Watkinds tries to bring out is that Lappeus kept the valise and appropriated the articles in it to his own use.

When the clerk finished the reading there was a minute's silence.

"Mr. President, it seems to me that this is a little out of the regular order of business," said Councilman Honeyman, "but as my name is mentioned in that report I think I am privileged to reply. This council has a right to pass any resolution it pleases, and if any member introduces anything out of the way, the council is the censor and not any outside individual. Then, too, I think the records of the office of the chief of police will bear me out in saying that that body needed rapping over the fingers—or some other place."

Gerdes moved that the report be referred to the committee on health and police.

Honeyman moved to amend by indefinitely postponing the whole matter. Chittenden, Honeyman and Smith voted for the amendment, which was lost, and Gerdes' motion then carried.

BUSINESS ON THE TABLE.

An ordinance which had been laid upon the table, and which provided for the time and manner of improving Montgomery street, was upon motion of Councilman Adams indefinitely postponed.

New Ordinances.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Providing for the time and manner of improving First street from the south line of Salmon street to the south line of Harrison street. Upon motion of Councilman Adams the rules were suspended and the ordinance passed.

Providing for the time and manner of improving D street from Fourteenth street to Eighteenth. Read twice.

Providing for the time and manner of improving G street from Fourteenth to Eighteenth. Read twice.

Declaring a separate assessment for the improvement of North Tenth street and of First street. Passed.

Adopting the report of the viewers in the matter of the proposed extension of North Front street. Passed.

Adopting the report of the viewers in the matter of the proposed extension of B street from the old city boundary line to the northeast corner of the City park. Read twice.

Declaring the probable cost of improving the intersection of B, Washington and Lownsdale streets, and making an appropriation therefor. Upon motion of Gerdes, the rules were suspended and the ordinance passed without a dissenting vote.

Authorizing the construction of a sewer in Mill street, from West Park to Ninth, at the expense of the public benefit. Read twice.

Declaring the probable cost of improving Hall street, from Front to Ninth, and making an appropriation therefor. Read twice.

PROVIDING FOR STREET CLEANING.

Councilman Adams introduced an ordinance calculated to raise the city out of the horrible mud into which it has sunk during the past few weeks, and explained that it took the place of the one passed at the last meeting, also including a one block pavements. Under a suspension of the rules the ordinance passed. Under its provisions it is made obligatory upon everyone to keep the streets in front of their homes or places of business free from mud or any manner of dirt or debris. Neglect so to do is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

APPROPRIATING MONEY, ETC.

Making an appropriation out of the general fund to pay for the expenses of street signs. Passed.

Making a transfer from the general fund to various street funds. Passed.

Making an appropriation out of the general fund for the extension of North Thirteenth street, from W to Y. Passed.

Making an appropriation out of the fund for the improvement of North Twenty-first street from E to L, to pay claims and damages awarded. Passed.

Making an appropriation out of the fund for the improvement of North Twenty-second street, from B to E, for the same purpose. Passed.

Making an appropriation out of the fund for the extension of E street to the Cornell road, for the same purpose. Passed.

Making an appropriation out of the fund for the extension of Jefferson street to pay damages awarded by the viewers. Passed.

Providing for the extension of the plank road on Water street, from Columbia to Jefferson. Read twice.

Making an appropriation of $1000 out of the general fund to repair streets and bridges, principally the bridge on the macadam road. Passed.

Adopting the report of the city surveyor in the matter of the proposed extension of Seventh street from Oak to B. Read twice.

Making an appropriation out of the general fund of $7077 64, to pay for certain pieces of property bid in by the city auditor and clerk at a recent delinquent tax sale by the chief of police, as authorized by a resolution of the common council. Upon motion of Honeyman the rules were suspended and the ordinance passed.

Authorizing the committee on city offices to expend not more than $1000 out of the general fund to furnish the new city quarters in Dekum's building. Councilman Adams moved to amend by making the amount $2000. Gerdes objected and voted no to the amendment, which was carried. Sears moved to suspend the rules, and the ordinance, as amended, was passed.

Making an appropriation out of the general fund of $317 for the relief of Wm. Wascher. Passed.

HYDRAULIC FIRE HYDRANTS.

Authorizing a contract with the Portland Hydraulic Elevator Company for the latter to maintain a system of fire hydrants, including at least twenty-three hydrants, on points along Front and First streets, for a period of ten years, the city to pay therefore $300 a month. Read twice.

After some further business the above ordinance was again taken up upon motion of Councilman Sears, who thought it about as well to vote on it now, as the matter had been thoroughly agitated before the council for some weeks previous. Accordingly it was placed upon its final passage and passed by a vote of 5 to 4. Yeas, Andrus, Chittenden, Gerdes, Haley and Scoggin; nays, Adams, Honeyman, Sears and Smith.

CITY PRINTING.

Councilman Adams introduced an ordinance authorizing the re-letting of the city printing and advertising for new bids.

Gerdes asked an explanation, as he understood that the contract had already been let to the Standard.

Adams stated that the Standard had refused to sign the contract, because the printing for the police department was included in the contract, as it never had been before. This extra printing in some way, although the city gave it out, had been in the past charged for at the usual rates to outsiders, which was more than double the price called for by the contract. The Standard had refused to include this extra printing in the contract, thus holding to what other papers had done in the past.

After some further debate in which Judge Adams stated that they were in a bad fix, with no one to do their printing, and he could see no better way out of it than the one he was now advocating, his ordinance passed.

PETITION GRANTED.

Councilman Scoggin introduced an ordinance extending the time of the completion of the construction of the Portland Street Railway Company, as asked for in their petition above, probably thinking that he might want to be accommodated some time in regard to his road. Under a suspension of the rules the ordinance passed.

Engrossed Ordinances.

Adopting the report of the city surveyor in the matter of the proposed lateral extension or widening of North Seventh street. Passed.

Providing for the time and manner of improving Front and South Front from Harrison to Porter. Passed.

THE GENERAL LICENSE BILL.

The ordinance relating to the licensing of various callings in the city which require such restriction was taken up, minus everything that relates to liquor, all of which was stricken out at the last meeting, much to the sorrow of the senior councilman from the First ward. The council were preparing to go into its provisions seriatim, when it was discovered to be getting late. Thereupon a motion was made and carried, putting it aside until the next meeting.

THE NEW GAS COMPANY.

The ordinance authorizing a new gas company to organize and do business in this city—a full outline of which was printed in these columns three weeks ago—was then taken up and passed unanimously.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were introduced, read by the clerk and acted upon:

Resolved, That the city surveyor be, and he is hereby directed, to survey an extension of Thirteenth street, from the south line of the Lownsdale donation land claim to the south line of Columbia street, such extension to be sixty feet wide and parallel with Twelfth street; and that he mark the boundaries thereof, and make his report as required by law. Adopted.

Resolved, That the auditor and clerk give notice that the common council of the city of Portland propose to change the grade of South Front street between the center line of Caruthers street and the center line of Porter street as follows: At the center line of Caruthers, no change; at the south line of Caruthers street, from 105.5 to 106 feet; at Sheridan street, from 80 feet to 106 feet; at Williams street, from 103 to 106 feet; at Meade street, from 127 feet to 122 feet, above the base of city grades; and at the center of Porter street no change; provided that the grade shall conform to a straight line between the points of elevation above named. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve North Twelfth street from the south line of E street to the center line of N street by laying sidewalks, crosswalks and box gutters, by bridging Tanner's gulch and by macadamizing the roadway full width, with stone gutters on the intersections, and doing the necessary grading therefor. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve the intersection of Ninth, Stark and North Tenth streets, by macadamizing the roadway full width, with stone gutters at the intersections; by laying crosswalks and box gutters, and doing the necessary grading therefor. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve Taylor street from the center line of Tenth street to the west line of Pacific street by laying sidewalks, crosswalks and box gutters, and by macadamizing the roadway full width, with stone gutters at the intersections, and doing the necessary grading therefor. Adopted.

Resolved, That the resolution heretofore passed, authorizing notice to be given of the proposed improvement of Taylor street from Tenth street to the west line of Twelfth street, be rescinded. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve Front street from the south line of F street to the north line of Madison street by laying stone crosswalks, to consist of three rows of stone, with a plane upper surface not less than fifteen inches wide. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve Second street, from the north line of F street to the south line of Morrison street, by laying stone crosswalks, to consist of three rows of stones with plane upper surfaces, not less than fifteen inches wide. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve First street, from the center line of Alder street to the center line of Salmon street, by laying Nicholson pavement and stone crosswalks. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve First street, from the north line of F street to the center line of Alder street, by laying stone crosswalks, to consist of three rows of stones with plane upper surfaces not less than fifteen inches wide. Adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given of the proposed improvement of Clay street from Front to First. Adopted.

Resolutions giving notice of the proposed improvement of A street and West park street, and of changing the grade on Hood and Multnomah streets were also read and adopted.

Resolved, That the chief of police be authorized and directed to remit to N. J. Gaston the taxes assessed against said taxpayer on $1500 of personal property, the same appearing to be a double assessment and the tax thereon having been already paid by Mrs. N. J. Gaston, the same person. Referred to the committee on ways and means.

Resolved, That the committee on streets and public property be and are hereby authorized to make an expenditure not exceeding $85 for the erection of gas lamps at the intersection of North Twentieth and G streets, at the intersection of North Twenty-first and H streets, and at the southwest corner of Seventh and G streets; also, at the southwest corner of Seventh and Montgomery streets. Adopted.

TO INVESTIGATE THE DREDGER.

Councilman Sears introduced the following, which was also adopted:

WHEREAS, The board of trade has declined to appoint a committee, as requested, to investigate certain transactions, conduct and results in relation to the construction of the city dredger, therefore be it

Resolved, That the committee heretofore designated for that purpose by the common council be and they are hereby authorized and directed to proceed to investigate the said matters concerning the construction of the said city dredger as more particularly specified in the resolution authorizing the appointment of such committee; that such committee may, if they deem it advisable, call to their assistance the city attorney or some competent attorney deputized by him; that they be allowed to employ a shorthand reporter, and that they have power to summon witnesses and to send for persons and papers.

GOING FOR WATKINDS' SCALP.

Councilman Honeyman, who had been doing a good deal of thinking and some writing, now passed over to the clerk the following:

Resolved, That the committee on health and police be and is hereby directed to ascertain by what authority the chief of police, W. H. Watkinds, absented himself from his post of duty for the period of about three weeks, and report their findings to this council at its next meeting. Adopted.

NOT KNOCKED OUT.

Clarke Fails to Floor Billy Morgan in Four Rounds.

The little interest taken by Portland in pugilistic matters was evinced by the small attendance at what was advertised as a "knock-out" match which took place at Good Templars' hall last evening. About 100 persons attended. The programme was that John B. Clarke, a light-weight champion of Montana, was to knock Billy Morgan out of time in four rounds, marquis of Queensbury rules, with soft gloves, or forfeit $200. It was at first announced that the match would take place between Morgan and Manning, his previous opponent in the late prize fight, but Manning concluded to let out the job, and as the sequel shows, Clarke would have done well to have done the same, for the job was not half as soft as the gloves used.

Pool selling was a poor business, no one seeming to care to invest much, evidently doubting the genuineness of the affair, as the public have been sold several times too often of late on "athletic business." A few pools were sold at Morgan $3 to Clarke $4, but at last Morgan sold for $4 to Clarke $3. Tom Manning acted as master of ceremonies and announced that several set-tos would take place before the grand knock-out.

Casey of San Francisco and Murray of Portland were introduced and banged one another around for several minutes, displaying considerable science and agility.

Then Joe Petty and Bill Heffron came out and went at each other like a pair of bulls and slogged away and were mashed up against the wall, creating much amusement.

The next couple to present themselves were a pair of youths, to fortune and to fame unknown, who exhibited considerable "science," but each seemed more anxious to avoid being hit than to get in a blow.

The affair began to grow tiresome by this time, and the announcement, "another set-to in about five minutes," was received in silence.

The Wilson and one of the Lee Brothers at length came forth and gave a very good exhibition. Wilson was much the smaller of the two, but stood his ground manfully, while Lee, as strong and big as an ox, was nevertheless agile and showered down blows like a miller, and danced around Wilson like a cooper round a barrel. They were heartily applauded.

At last it was announced that the match would be next in order. The stools and tables at the end of the stage were shoved back, seconds came in with towels and water bottles, Dan Sheehan was chosen referee and the "knock out" began.

Morgan is the same emaciated looking fellow he was when he fought with Manning, and is just as plucky. Clarke is a little taller, but not much heavier. He is very active, but lacks the weight for the job he undertook.

The men were evidently in earnest. There was small display of science, but each went for the other with energy and some heavy blows were put in on both sides. It was evident from the first that Clarke had undertaken more than he was capable of, and all who had seen Morgan come up smiling for a ninety-ninth round with Manning knew that he could stand up before those soft gloves till he died of old age. Clarke did his best, but Morgan was able to hold him level. A facer from each brought a little claret from each of their bugles, which was the only sign of punishment visible on either. They clinched a number of times, but were broken loose at once. Morgan was thrown two or three times and Clarke once. As far as the "knock out" business was concerned, the whole thing was a farce.

There came near being trouble by the referee announcing that inasmuch as neither was knocked out, the match was a draw. Everyone present knew that he had made a mistake, but some interested in pools and bets claimed that the referee's decision was final. After some argument it was announced that those who bet on Morgan had won, and the matter was settled.

It would seem as if the public taste has not been educated up to slugging matches here, and it may be well for the promoters of such affairs to wait awhile before they undertake to make their fortunes by the prize ring racket.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 8, 1883.

AGAINST CLASSICAL STUDIES.

COTTAGE GROVE, Nov. 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Will you please admit a short reply to "A Plea for Classical Studies," by "W. W. K.," in issue of 2d instant? Homer may sleep, but I shall not intimate that the "editor nods" because he publishes both sides of a question. It is the best evidence that he wakes. Nodding people are "pained" by having a train of new thoughts sent across their dreaming minds.

Is one, then, to be classed with the "uninitiated vulgar" because he chooses to designate certain languages as "dead" rather than "classic"? The term classic means first of rank and includes, without modification, Milton, Shakespeare, Addison, etc. Is "W. W. K.'s" education so "polite" that we can afford to ignore the English classics? As a teacher of many years' experience I have encouraged the study of etymology, or philology, using Swinton's "Word Analysis," and other similar works, that pupils may become familiar with the origin of English words, and I cannot overestimate my appreciation of it as an educational aid—practical as the genius of progress that stamps this living age. They learn in a few minutes that spirare is a Latin infinitive, meaning to breathe, and con, together; per, through, and trans, through or across. Hence, conspire, to plot or breathe evil purposes together; perspire, to breathe through the pores, to sweat, and transpire, to become known, with a drifting tendency to supersede the word happen. Thus they learn the most practical of lessons, that they are not [illegible] consult Homer to learn what a word of Latin origin means but present usage. There is nothing that teaches the correct use of language but a knowledge of present living authors. This anyone may acquire without being able to read a line of sleeping Homer. I venture to affirm that W. W. K. knows the meaning of the word dunce (no offense meant), but I doubt whether he knows that it is from Duns Scotus, whose teaching fell into disrepute. Can we not say "good-bye" with proper emotion without knowing that it was once "God be with you!" The study of the ancient classics as instruments of thought has failed, even as discipline. One sentence from W. W. K., as example:

"On every side we behold the spirit of money rising before us."

This may be the way Cicero or Plato would express it, but "accuracy of expression," according to modern models, would have it different. This self-assumed "politeness" and "elegance" that attaches to those who run after strange tongues, has been a very mill-stone to the work of true progress on education. The English language is the Mississippi of all languages. It is the ever widening and deepening channel where flows the rushing floods of modern thought and feeling. Along its banks stretch the fields of modern science, blossoming with infinite truth. There is the field of botany, with its life, beauty and varied language. Isn't it wonderful that a leaf breathes! Here is the field of geology; let us turn over the stony leaves and read the wonderful history of the earth. Here is the spectroscope; it has news from the stars. The sea has no secret in all its vast depths but it is written here. This is where Humboldt and Agassiz spent their lives; here are the labors of Spencer, Darwin and Tyndall. Is this world of information written in Latin or Greek? Not a word of it. Latin and Greek are to the linguist what fossil bones are to the naturalist—interesting by comparison. Many persons regret that they spent three or four of the best years of their lives acquiring a proficiency in the ancient classics to the exclusion of natural sciences. All our institutions of learning offer a scientific course as distinguished from the classical, to satisfy the growing demand for knowledge. Words are nothing but nuts that have fallen from the tree of human experience—the thought contained is everything. If one were a Greek, a Demosthenes, in point of knowledge, he would be a pigmy beside a modern school boy. Will a knowledge of the Greek allay the desire for gain? Then the study would fill the land with beggars. Will it redeem the vicious? They will not study anything. In the name of practical intelligence, I ask why not introduce Swinton's Word "Analysis" and something in the way of natural science into our schools? Physiology is ignored by our state board of education. One would think from their papers for examinations that they had a contract for measuring the temple of science. Shall we have no golden keys to unlock its wonderful doors? Well, if W. W. K. will have it stored with the fossil language of an age barren of scientific thought it matters little whether the doors be opened or not. I desire to record my conscientious judgment against the study of Latin and Greek, as recommended by W. W. K. Our schools are starving for the real food of information. The multitudes have been fed on husks long enough. The harvest of scientific truth is ripe. The English language is the modern reaping machine. All power, honor and elegance belongs to it.

J. R. KENDALL.

THE EAST SIDE.

DOSED

J. C. Flood, who resides on E and Fifth streets in this city, had occasion to visit Portland on Saturday evening last, and, before recrossing the river, took a nip of whisky to keep the cold out. On reaching home he was seized with convulsions, attended by violent burning pains in the stomach and a dry throat. Dr. C. B. Smith was immediately summoned, and found it to be a case of arsenical poisoning. The proper antidotes were administered, but the patient continued to endure much suffering till Sunday evening, when the efforts of the doctor terminated successfully. Mr. Flood is not habituated to drink, and indulged on the present occasion for healthful purposes. The saloon at which he was dosed could not be learned.

PERSONAL.

Councilman Kindorf has returned from a visit to his parents at Racine, Wis., after an absence of seven weeks. He luckily escaped the municipal difficulty, returning the morning after it had been satisfactorily settled. He will resume his official position with added weight, having increased his avoirdupois several pounds during his absence. That his interest in the peace and welfare of the city did not flag during his absence is shown by his bringing back with him a substantial hickory peace-preserver, appropriately inscribed "Let us have peace," and which he presented to the city marshal for the purpose indicated. Though enjoying his trip, he is glad to get back.

NOTES.

The election of L. M. Sanders as mayor is another republican victory.

M. C. Athey, an attorney, formerly of Oregon City, has located in this city with an office in the Brayman & Sommerville block.

The council chamber was lighted with gas for the first time Monday evening. The globes used bear illustrations of the meek and peaceful lamb, and were furnished under the direction of the city marshal. In the light of recent events, that officer is evidently facetiously inclined.

T. F. Garrison was arrested on a warrant issued by Justice Bullock yesterday for stealing an overcoat valued at $20, the property of F. M. Tibbets. The coat was taken from the ferry pontoon while the owner was engaged at work underneath. The court adjudged the prisoner guilty and sent him to the county jail for twelve and a half days.

The complete arrangements made for the entertainment and ball by Fidelity lodge, A. O. U. W., at Nepauch's hall to-morrow, insures an evening of rare enjoyment both for the head and heels. An excellent literary and musical programme has been prepared, which will be executed by artists of well known ability; after which the floor will be cleared for the accommodation of dancers, for whose benefit the services of Professor Varney and band have been secured.

Sixteen stringers are still needed for the elevated roadway on Water street, and its completion will be further delayed in consequence. Mr. Spore will avoid a repetition of such delays on the elevated roadway on I street by taking means to have all timber furnished on time. He has the contracts for both roadways, or bridges, on this street, excepting 200 feet on the east end of that between Sixth and Eighth streets, which was awarded to Miller & Son at a figure which cannot give them much margin of profit, if any.

ANSWER THIS.—Is there a person living who ever saw a case of ague, biliousness, nervousness, or neuralgia, or any disease of the stomach, liver or kidneys that Hop Bitters will not cure?

In the Wrong Pulpit.

A good and true story is going the rounds of Boston about the adventures of a worthy Congregational pastor, who ministers to a suburban church. He had agreed to supply a Roxbury pulpit for an absent brother. He came into Boston, and promptly took a Highland car for the scene of his evening's labor. In due time he descried a steeple, and reaching the church, got out, walked in, took off his coat in the vestry and went straight to the pulpit. He glanced around on the congregation, and proceeded, after a minute or two's delay, to give out a good old standard Congregational hymn. The congregation proceeded to find the place, the organ gave the tune and the singing began. While it was in progress, the sexton walked up the pulpit stairs and said to our suburban friend:

"Mr. —— will be here in a few minutes."

The situation flashed upon him, but suppressing his emotion he asked:

"Why, isn't this Mr. ——'s church?"

"No sir," calmly replied the sexton, "this is the Universalist church."

There was an exchange of places a few minutes later. The friends of the suburban minister are now fond of asking him how he came to enter the Universalist ministry. He laughs and solaces himself with the remark:

"Well, I got them to sing a good orthodox hymn anyhow."—Boston Traveller.

[illegible] says: "Many [illegible] an excellent tonic."

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 7.

Showery weather has made the day an unpleasant one for out-door work. The Idaho received Alaska freight to-day and takes a large cargo. The Oregon carried one car of lard oil and one car of barbed wire to San Francisco. Both lots were received here by rail, the lard oil coming from Kansas City.

A private dispatch from San Francisco says John E. Lombard has been appointed port surveyor at this city for the San Francisco Board of Underwriters. Capt. Lombard located here a few months ago, coming from New York, and is said to possess large experience. Capt. J. W. McAllep is the accredited surveyor for the board for Puget Sound. This appointment does not refer to Veritas, Lloyds or the Record classifications of vessels for which Capt. N. Ingersoll is agent.

FREIGHTS—Possibly an improved tone is manifest, and it is claimed the last rate cannot be duplicated. Two large wooden at San Francisco have secured 35s 9d, U. K., Havre or Antwerp, which is an improvement over last week. There are now in port 25,672 registered tons engaged, and 11,107 disengaged.

WHEAT—While spot quotations are not materially changed, yet a slight advance could be had over yesterday for round lots. A few large sales have been made, but the exact figure is hard to obtain. Seven hundred tons eastern brought a figure equal to $1 67½ free on board, or $1 65 on wharf, but this cannot be had for ordinary sized parcels, they not being quoted over $1 62½. For valley $1 70 and even a shade advance is possible for desirable lots, but in this quality there is little doing. Our market steadily keeps above a parity with the English market, owing to existing competition and urgent needs in two or three directions. Whether this competition is exhausted on the filling of these needs, rests altogether with foreign markets. A continuation for a short time of the present buying will fill the needs of shippers, and they will be in position to hold off. For this reason the market may be said to be in a condition not altogether healthy to extreme future values, and interior operators must work with extreme caution. Beerbohm reports a firm and hardening market to-day, with small arrivals off coast.

FLOUR—Market firm at full prices. Export movement not so large, but there is a good call for shipments north.

OATS—Receipts almost nil yesterday, but new consignments are en route. The receipt of 18,000 ctls territory at San Francisco had no effect upon that market.

HAY—The LaConner, W. T., Mail says the hay crop this season is said to be unusually large. On Snohomish flats alone upward of 1000 tons have been raised this year. Hay is now quoted at $12 to $15 per ton. Our market is still quoted at $20@23, but any advance would bring in outside supplies.

MEATS—A firm market is had with steady receipts of eastern.

HOGS—In a small way 6@7c has been obtained, but it is not safe to quote above 5@6c.

EGGS—Rather firmer, and 50c was obtained to-day. Eastern well cleaned up, but more are expected next Monday.

CHICKENS—Market very irregular, and $3 50@5 50 is quoted as the size.

BUTTER—Market only fairly steady for choice, with inferior rather weak.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 6265 ctls wheat, 2668 bbls flour, 1 ctl oats, 218 ctls bran, 201 ctls millstuff, 218 sks potatoes, 7471 lbs wool, 1524 lbs hides, 30 cs eggs, 56,472 lbs hops, 579 bxs fruit, 13 pkgs butter, 2 tns hay, 100 bbls lime. Also, 24,021 ctls wheat, 270 bbls flour, 4597 lbs wool, 860 lbs hides, 4290 lbs hops, 1305 ctls flaxseed from the eastern section.

EXPORTS—Per str Oregon: 249 ctls Walla Walla wheat, 1611 ctls flaxseed, 406 qr Red Sheaf, 200 hf United States, 990 hf Huntsville, 490 qr Monroe, 400 qr Lafayette, 649 hf 2 qr Roller Mills, 213 hf Rising Star, 109 sks (49,441 lbs) E. O. wool, 63 sks (15,359 lbs) valley wool, 520 sheepskins, 3 bls deerskins, 64 dry 94 gr hides, 2 cs cassimeres, 1 bl blankets, 1 bl flannels, 75 sks potatoes, 9 sks leather, 274 bls (49,237 lbs) Puyallup hops, $16,416 treasure.

SALMON SHIPMENTS—Per str Columbia: Scandinavian 3672, Point Adams 325, Pacific Union 192, Sea Side 300, Thomas & Knowles 372. Total, 4861 cs.

OVERLAND RECEIPTS—Include 40 cs lard, 5 cs maple sugar, 10 cs maple syrup, 80 cs can goods, 2 cs figs, 215 cs candy, 100 cs herring, 35 kits fish, 1 cs extract, 50 cs can meat, 2 tubs butter, 125 cs milk, 36 pkgs tobacco. Also, 168 cls rope for Victoria.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Oregon sailed at 6:05 A. M. with 442 tons freight.

The State of California sailed from San Francisco at 10:15 A. M.

The Lake Erie hauled up to Ainsworth wharf to receive wheat stiffening.

The Imperial and Scottish Prince towed over to Albina for cargoes.

The Bhotan is discharging at Columbia.

The Caitloch is discharging ballast at Columbia and the Antwerp and Isle of Anglesea were idle at the same wharf.

The Killochan is finishing discharge of coal at the bunkers.

The Glenperis and Coldstream were discharging ballast at Flanders' to-day. The former has stiffening in.

The Balaklava will probably drop down to Greenwich to-morrow for wheat.

The Blengfell is loading at the east side, the Amana at Albina and the Clan Ferguson at Central.

The new snag boat Skagit made a trial trip last Saturday on Puget sound. In ducking she had both smokestacks broken off.

The Mount Washington has finished discharging and is awaiting sale.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

Baker City Tribune: One hundred and fifty-two indictments were reported by the grand jury at the present term of court—mostly violations of the Sunday law.

While riding on Wednesday night Revs. Parker and Smith of Baker City were thrown from their carriage. Rev. Smith was seriously bruised and had one of his ribs fractured.

A blacksmith at The Dalles shops while working at the anvil with a piece of steel was seriously wounded on the 2d inst. by the severing of the artery of the arm just above the wrist by a piece of the bar flying off under the stroke of the hammer.

Weston Leader: The grading between Centerville and Pine creek is about completed. All the heavy work is done. The grading between Pine creek and Blue Mountain station is being pushed vigorously. It will probably be finished before December 1. That along Dry creek below Blue mountain is also under good headway. The contractors expect to have the whole grading completed before Christmas. Timber and other material for the trestlework across Dry creek are already on the grounds, and work will be commenced soon. Probably by the time the grading is finished, the bridges and trestlework will also be ready. Putting down the ties and iron will not occupy any great length of time, so we may look for the completion of the road some time in January.

Western Oregon.

Astorian: The body of an unknown man was found on Clatsop beach last Saturday. At the inquest it was found that the drowned man was about 30 years old, 5 feet 8 inches high, weight about 150 pounds, light brown hair, had on gray pants, blue woolen shirt, black vest, No 7 leather boots; in his pocket was $41 55. The deceased was given proper interment. Beyond that given above there were no other means of identification.

Washington Territory.

Dayton Chronicle: The heaviest shipment made from Dayton this season left the depot Monday morning, being twenty-seven car-loads, mostly wheat.

About sixty-five men in all were discharged at the railroad shops on Saturday night—thirty-five from the carpenter shop, ten painters, eleven blacksmiths and twelve from the machine shops. This leaves about seventy-five men to do the necessary repairs. All new work has been stopped for the time being.

Walla Walla Union: Two persons, father and son, named Rice, and two others named Ward and Hay, were arrested at Milton on Saturday charged with stealing wheat from D. J. Thomas. The elder Rice was discharged from custody while the son was bound over to appear before the grand jury in the sum of $500.

The schooner W. L. Beebe was towed over to Blakeley Monday, where she will undergo repairs and receive a cargo of lumber for Santa Barbara. It is estimated that the total damage sustained by the freight she discharged here is approximately $1500. The consignees of the injured goods were in the aggregate insured for $1000.

Port Townsend Argus: Already the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad is revolutionizing the channels of trade. There was received at the custom house here this week the invoice of 400 tons of coal oil to be shipped through to Victoria from Philadelphia. Information is also received to the effect that a large amount of salmon and other native products will soon be shipped from Victoria to Canada, via the new transcontinental route.

Idaho.

E. W. Pratt, a well known mining man of the river, had his leg badly broken, between Hailey and Bullion mines, by being run over by a wagon. It was badly crushed just below the knee, being reduced to a jelly.

News-Miner: One Atkinson, a miner employed at the Bullion mine, was struck on the head by a bucket while he was coming up the shaft. He was not only hit on the head, but also knocked off the ladder. He fell a distance of sixty feet, breaking his collar bone and fracturing his skull so badly that the brain protruded.

Montana.

B. M. DuBois, who a good many years ago was connected with the First National bank of Idaho City, died at Frenchtown, Montana, on the 10th of October. He was well known by old residents of Walla Walla.

THE LATE STORM.

Condition of the Injured—Relief for the Wounded, Homeless and Destitute.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 6.—There was one death to-day among the victims of the tornado. Several others are in a very critical condition, and some of them will die. Reports not yet tabulated full and correct particulars. About $25,000 were raised to-day for the relief of the injured and destitute. All are being well cared for. The work of rebuilding has been going on all day. Carpenters are preparing material for new ones in place of those destroyed. About forty families are homeless and destitute, and as many more are materially damaged in property. Many of those who lost their property were employes of the railroad, and Captain Rogers, general manager of the road, is furnishing material to allow them to rebuild and giving them their own time in which to make payment.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS,
DISORDERED LIVER,
and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

LOSS AND GAIN.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With billious fever.

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I

Could not move!

I shrunk!

From 228 pounds to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign, but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life. [illegible] FITZPATRICK.

Dublin, June 6, '81.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

DR. FELIX LE BRUN'S

of the continued use of mercury and potash for the treatment of Blood and Skin diseases—they never cure, and nearly always injure or totally ruin the general health.

A WELL KNOWN DRUGGIST.

My drug store was the first to sell Swift's Specific. It was then put up in quart bottles, which sold for $5 each. I have seen a great many cases cured by its use, and some who had tried all sorts of treatment. In fact I have never known it to fail when taken properly. I sell a large quantity of it, and for all diseases that are dependent on blood poison or skin humor, it cures

Pimples or Blotches on the Skin,

And makes the complexion fair and rosy. As for blood taint, there is no such word as fail. It cures cases that have long withstood other sorts of treatment, and without any of those recurring troubles that generally follow mercurial and other so-called cures.

T. L. MASSENBURG, Macon, Ga.

DRY TETTER.

For years I was afflicted with Dry Tetter of the most obstinate type. Was treated by many of the best physicians; took quantities of mercury, potash and arsenic, which, instead of curing the tetter, crippled me up with mineral poison and rheumatism. The tetter continued to grow worse, and the itching almost made me crazy. In this condition I was induced to take Swift's Specific, and the result was as astonishing as it was gratifying. In a few months the tetter was entirely well, the mercurial poisoning all out of my system, and I was a well man—and due only to Swift's Specific. All like sufferers should take it.

JAMES DUNNING, Louisville, Ky.

WHAT A PHYSICIAN SAYS.

CYPRESS RIDGE, MONROE CO., ARK., July 22, 1883.

I have a bright little daughter who will be two years old next month. She has been troubled nearly ever since her birth with a skin disease, which I first diagnosed chicken-pox, but later found it to be some sort of eczema; at any rate it resisted very stubbornly all the different treatments. I procured one bottle of Swift's Specific and gave it to her in small doses three times a day, and in a short while had the satisfaction to see that she was entirely well. I am so well pleased with its effects on her that I shall not only use it in my practice, but I shall administer it to my other children and take it myself.
